Money Bill on Senate Floor Today

Hoping to Adjourn June 22

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Senate Republican leadership plans to bring out a revised General Appropriations Bill today, pass it before the end of the week and drive for final adjournment by June 22.

Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) said the major money bill will be sent to the floor today with some, although no major changes in the House-approved version. He said he expected an agreement with the Democratic leadership to permit final passage Friday before the chambers adjourn for the week.

Tuesday the Senate GOP caucus tentatively approved additions amounting to more than one million dollars in appropriations for the state's 17 mental hospitals, leaving the total earmarked for such purposes still about $7,200,000 short of that recommended by the administration.

However, the changes will push appropriations for seven of the hospitals to or beyond the level recommended by Gov. George M. Leader. They include those at Allentown, Dixmont, Clarks Summit, Harrisburg, Holidaysburg, Torrance and Wernersville.

Other Cuts Remain

But the House budget cuts were unchanged for the Eastern Pennsylvania Psychiatric Institute, the mental hospitals at Philadelphia, Norristown and Mayview and the mentally deficient institutions at Pennhurst, Polk and Selinsgrove. As a result the lawmaker chipped about $13,740,000 from the administration's budget for the 23 mental institutions.

Meanwhile, the House Democratic delegation, which holds the balance of power on the non-preferred appropriation bills for state-aided colleges, universities and hospitals, continued its "wait and watch" policy pending the outcome of Senate action on the General Appropriation Bill.

House Republican leaders have not decided when they will try to move the remaining money bills in that chamber. The Democratic leadership is holding off until next Monday when the situation should be resolved by Senate action.

But House GOP chiefs indicated they will make another attempt to put across the proposed $31,390,000 additional school subsidy which was sent back to committee several weeks ago amid the objection of large city lawmakers, who complained it would cost their communities millions of dollars.

Optimistic on Chances

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) appeared optimistic on its chances of passage after a GOP caucus. He said it would get enough Republican votes to be enacted without amendments.

The key to final adjournment still appeared to be the question of whether to again postpone the manufacturers' exemption to the capital stock tax. Both Republican and Democratic leaders apparently are willing to sacrifice it but neither party is willing to make the initial move since both sides are on record as favoring the exemption going into effect Jan. 1, 1958.

The Senate Tuesday held traditional "closing" day ceremonies when party leaders received gifts in recognition of their efforts throughout the session.

Senate President Pro-tempore M. Harvey Taylor was reelected to the post to serve during the interim between the adjournment of the current Legislature and the opening of the 1959 session. Taylor, 81-year-old Dauphin County Republican, was reelected unanimously to the post which he has held continuously since 1945.

Smallest of Quads Dies in London

LONDON (UP)—Carol Philp, the smallest of London's two-day old quadruplets, died in Queen Charlotte's Hospital late today.

A hospital spokesman had said Carol's health was giving cause for concern and she was not responding to treatment.

Equal Rights for Married Women

HARRISBURGH (UP) — A House committee today approved legislation to give married women the same property rights now extended to men.

The chamber's Judiciary Committee released the bill that specified that a married woman would have the same right and power as a married man to acquire, own, possess, or use any property.

The equal rights for women bill is part of Gov. George M. Leader's proposed legislative program, backed by Republicans.

West Brownsville To Answer Police Chief Ruling

Further developments are expected this week in the running fight between West Brownsville Borough Council and former Police Chief Mel Deskins.

Last night Council authorized Solicitor A. J. Murphy, Jr., to answer a contempt order handed down by Judge Roy I. Carson, of Washington County, last week.

Murphy said he would file the answer, probably on Friday, giving the reasons council and Burgess James Forsythe should not be held in contempt.

The court order centered around the retirement of Deskins by council and set June 17 as the deadline for the answer.

Council last night passed a motion to reinstate Deskins under protest pursuant to the court order. At the same time it kept in effect the retirement of Deskins.

The motion to reinstate Deskins does not return him to duty, council's position being that he was retired officially last July 31. No further action by council is expected until the court hearing June 17 on the contempt order.

Deskins contends his retirement violates court rulings. Washington County courts ordered Deskins' reinstatement last November and the ruling was upheld by the State Supreme Court in April.

Two Monessen Men Injured in Two-car Crash

Two Monessen men were injured, one hospitalized, following a two-car crash on Donner Ave. between Second and Third streets about 1 o'clock this morning, police reported.

Thomas Gilmore, 16, of 416 Donner Ave., is in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital with an injured knee. Also injured but not hospitalized was Andrew Wayco, 36, of 512 Division St. He was treated for possible head injuries at the hospital and released.

According to reports, Wayco was attempting to leave a parked car belonging to Edward Hasco, of 209 Knox Ave., Monessen, when the Gilmore machine, traveling west, crashed into the rear of the Hasco vehicle.

Both cars were badly damaged and had to be towed away.

Allenport Job Cited In Trial

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Federal prosecutors today opened the government's case against Nicholas A. Stirone, construction laborers union chief accused of extorting $11,274 from a Pittsburgh building supplier who claimed he went bankrupt making payoffs.

A jury of nine women and three men was chosen Tuesday at the opening of the trial of Stirone, president of the 12,000-member Local 1058 of the AFL Construction and General Laborers District Council.

Stirone was indicted on charges he violated the Hobbs Anti-Racketeering Act by forcing the contractor, William G. Rider, to pay tribute of 50 cents for every cubic yard of ready-mixed cement Rider supplied for construction of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. Allenport plant between March, 1951 and December, 1953.

Claims Threats

The government charged that Stirone extorted money by "fear and wrongful use of threats of labor disputes" to tie up Rider's contract to supply the cement.

Rider claimed Stirone threatened to block movement of the concrete unless he paid the money.

Federal prosecutors said two union men would be among the first witnesses called to testify in the government's case against Stirone. The union witnesses were identified as Joseph V. Moreschi, national president of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union, and Albert Russell, a former international representative for Stirone's union.

House Has Bill On the Study Of Constitution

HARRISBURG (UP)—Bipartisan legislation for a state commission to study Pennsylvania's 83-year-old Constitution for possible revision was brought to the House floor today.

The bipartisan bill was reported from the Republican - dominated Appropriations Committee. It would create a constitutional revision commission composed of 15 members appointed by the governor. The commission would study the Commonwealth's Constitution to determine if it needs rewriting to conform with modern times.

The commission would report its findings to the 1959 Legislature. The Appropriations Committee allocated $25,000 for the study, trimming the original request for $175,000.

Oldest Policeman

GREENVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Assistant Chief G. I. Biddle, believed to have been the nation's oldest active policeman, died Tuesday night following a heart attack suffered on Sunday, his 90th birthday.

Cy Johns Says His Firm Has 'Faith in Monessen'

"We have faith in Monessen, in our employes and are optimistic about the future," Cyrus N. Johns, president of American Chain & Cable Co. and a former general manager of the firm's Page plant, told over 400 persons at a banquet in his honor last night.

In speaking of the relationship of the local plant and the community, Johns said:

"We feel that we are part of Monessen, and as we progress as Monessen progresses, we both should benefit, as well as the entire community.

"I sincerely hope that the progress will continue, and I feel quite definite from my observations today, that it will and that Monessen will continue to move forward and be one of the greatest communities in Western Pennsylvania."

Capacity Crowd

Johns spoke to a capacity crowd at the Slovak Home as the climax of "Cy Johns Day" arranged by the Chamber of Commerce in honor of the industrial leader who got his start in Monessen.

Johns, who became president of ACCO in 1951, had been associated with the local plant for 23 years and rose to the position of general manager in 1953. He left Monessen to join the firm's headquarters in New York in 1939.

In his address last night, Johns also spoke on the labor relations in the plant, stating:

"Our labor relations in this plant have been generally most favorable. We have an exceptionally good group of efficient, interested and loyal employes. There have been times when there were misunderstandings, some of which were justified and some not, but I am happy to say that the relationship has shown a great deal of improvement in recent years, due primarily to a better basis of understanding and also due to the realization of a definite responsibility. This is most important to the community as well as to any plant or industry."

He then said:

Payroll Doubled

". . .Since American Chain took over the Page Company 37 years ago, we have paid out in wages slightly over $80 million, and, besides this amount, a great deal more has been paid out in this community for other services, materials, etc.

"It might also be interesting to know that our payroll in 1956 was

Church Delegate Suffers Fatal Attack at Parley

GREENVILLE, Pa. (UP)—A lay delegate attending the 115th convention of the Pittsburgh synod of the United Lutheran Church collapsed and died during a convention session here today.

Elmer Simpson, 74, 139 Edgewood Ave., Pittsburgh, suffered an apparent heart attack and died before a physician could be summoned. A long active churchman, Simpson represented the Redeemer Lutheran Church of Homewood.

The synod delegates resumed their business session after Simpson's body was removed to a local funeral home.

The Rev. H. Paul Gerhard, pastor of Zion United Lutheran Church, Pittsburgh, declined his election as synod secretary, necessitating additional balloting.

Dr. Paul E. Daugherty, Pittsburgh synod missions superintendent, reported establishment of two new congregations — St. John's Church at Warren and St. Matthias at Greensburg.

The synod named the Rev. Howard S. Reisz as its first full-time director of parish education and youth work. He held a similar post in the Maryland synod for 10 years.

Retiring statistical secretary Paul Schnur, Erie, was named synod treasurer, and Raymond R. Goehring, Wexford, synod trustee.

Elected to the parish education committee were: Rev. M. L. A. Schilling, Wheeling; Rev. Frank Herzel, Punxsutawney; Rev. R. H. Thurau, Kittanning; Mrs. H. Paul Gerhard, Penn Twp; and Sister Edna Hill, Leechburg.

Police Courts Are Considered

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today considered House approved legislation to permit towns, townships and boroughs and most cities to establish central police courts to handle traffic violations.

The House passed the bill Tuesday, 199-2, with Democratic Reps. Anthony J. Patrosky (Westmoreland) and Joseph G. Wargo (Lackawanna) voting in opposition. The legislation specifies that Scranton, the state's 47 third class cities and boroughs, towns and townships could set up the central traffic courts. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh already have the courts.

The bipartisan bill was sponsored by Reps. Thomas R. W. Jones (R-Montgomery) and Philip Lepresti (D-Cambria).

Many Attend Open House at Page Plant

Some 3,200 persons yesterday attended the first open house held at the Monessen Page Steel and Wire Division plant of American Chain & Cable Co., Inc.

The open house was held in conjunction with the celebration of "Cy Johns Day" in Monessen. Johns, now president of ACCO, was a former general manager here.

The steady stream of visitors inspected the mill from 9 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. to see the making of barbed wire and gates and other wire products.

Included in yesterday's crowds were many officials of United States Steel, American Steel and Wire Co., Inc., Pittsburgh Steel Co. and other steel mills, along with leaders of other industries, public officials, merchants and the general public. Many women and

Powell to Enter Naval Hospital

NEW YORK (UP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.) plans to enter the naval hospital in Bethesda, Md., today for a check-up, following his discharge Tuesday from New York hospital.

The 48-year-old congressman was admitted to the hospital Saturday suffering from exhaustion and a possible heart ailment. He became ill while conducting a service at the Abyssinian Baptist Church here, of which he is pastor.

Wants Pact to Prohibit Use in Any Future War

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today he favors a total ban on testing nuclear weapons, provided such a prohibition is linked firmly to an international agreement — backed up by inspection — prohibiting forever the future use of such weapons in war.

The President's news conference remarks on bomb testing stemmed from the current controversy over the effects of radioactivity generated by such tests.

In a many-sided discussion with reports of the radiation and bomb testing controversy, Eisenhower made these other points:

—He did not believe that this country ever again would test a hydrogen bomb the size of the largest weapon exploded in the Pacific March 1, 1954. That blast caused widespread, damaging fallout.

—He did not rule out further tests of smaller hydrogen weapons, however, pointing out that the H-bomb is one of the cleanest weapons devised by the government's nuclear scientists.

—He accepted the findings of the National Academy of Sciences that current radiation resulting from tests is not dangerous. He said that opposition to the tests now being voiced by numerous other scientists seems to have a degree of organization behind it.

—He expressed the opinion that many scientists now disagreeing with the government on fallout are not geneticists or physicists and are, in fact, out of their field of competence.

Against Stopping Tests

Eisenhower opposed halting bomb tests pending an ironclad disarmament agreement banning, for all time, the use of such weapons in war. Without such an agreement, he said it would be foolish to fall behind any other nation and this means that testing will have to continue.

Other news conference highlights:

—The President said the proposal of Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev for withdrawal of all foreign forces from Germany might be an effort to drive a wedge between the Western allies. He noted that Khrushchev in his televised interview Sunday, said nothing about the reunification of Germany.

—He expressed the hope that Khrushchev's statement favoring a first step agreement toward full disarmament reflected real progress toward permanent peace.

—As for "equal time" on the Russian radio and television to answer Khrushchev, the President said that if the Soviet Union wanted to ask an American to appear over its facilities and guaranteed that there would be no jamming, interference or counter-attractions to influence the Russian audience away—then somebody in the American government would be glad to accept such an invitation.

—He advocated that Big Republican Party contributors, who are pointing out how lucrative their tax positions are under the present tax laws, look into the actual facts rather than listening so much to partisan speeches. He has told these Republicans to ponder what

Slams U. S. for Slow Work at Independence Hall

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa.) told a House subcommittee Tuesday that the federal government was lax in doing its share towards restoration at Independence Hall National Park in Philadelphia.

Saylor complained that the government so far has just bulldozed off an area that leaves a scar. He said the government's part looks like a "bombed out area," while the state's part is moving along satisfactorily.

Saylor appeared before a House interior subcommittee to urge adoption of a bill authorizing $7,50,000 for the National Park Service to speed up its work on the project, designed to restore the Independence Hall area to its original form.

The Interior Department said it was "agreeable" to the bill, but did not think it was necessary. It said the Park Service now is going forward with plans for the project.

Park Service Director Conrad Wirth told the subcommittee that the federal part of the project contains historical buildings which require "thorough study."

The Rev. C. Stanley Lowell, associate director of "Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State," objected to spending any federal funds on churches in the area that will continue to function, rather than serve just as national shrines.

Donora Man Is Heart Victim In Pittsburgh

A 60-year-old Donora man, Ralph C. Clutter, 60, of Sixth St. and McKean Ave., collapsed and died of a heart attack while on a shopping trip in Pittsburgh yesterday.

The victim, a cost analyst at the American Steel & Wire Co., U. S. Steel Corp., had been on a leave of absence because of illness. He was discharged Monday from Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Clutter was shopping in an Oakland drug store when he collapsed. He was pronounced dead at 3:35 p. m. at Montefiore Hospital.

He is survived by two sons, James, of Washington, Pa., and Robert, of Columbus, Ohio; a daughter, Mrs. Samuel (Margaret) White, of Columbus, Ohio; a brother, Frank, of Morgantown, W. Va., and three sisters, Mrs. John Brothers, of Grove City; Mrs. Wilson Thomas, of Mt. Lebanon, and Mrs. Horace Showers, of Ford City.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Dave Beck Jr. to Be Contempt Guinea Pig

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) predicted today the Senate will make Dave Beck Jr. a guinea pig in a contempt of Congress test case for frivolously and capriciously" invoking the Fifth Amendment.

Young Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment 130 times in 40 minutes Tuesday under questioning by the Senate Rackets Committee.

Committee Chairman McClellan said the committee will act in about 10 days on a contempt recommendation against the 36-year-old son of the Teamster union president.

The committee also ordered contempt proceedings against Joseph McEvoy, a nephew of the elder Beck by marriage. McEvoy, the alleged bodyguard of the 6-foot, 200-pound Beck Jr., invoked the fifth 90 times.

Both men refused to answer nearly all questions put to them by the committee, including their connection with the Teamsters Union and its payroll.

If the Senate approves the contempt citations, the cases will be sent to the Justice Department for prosecution. Maximum penalty on conviction is one year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

McClellan's ire seemed to focus on two angles of young Dave's performance: The Teamster president's son refused even to say whether he "honestly believed" his answers would tend to incriminate him; said he refused to say whether he knew his father—or to state where he got the name "Dave Beck Jr."

The chairman said he doubted the framers of the U. S. Constitution "ever conceived that such flagrant abuse would be made" of the Fifth Amendment, which

$3,100 Settlement In Accident Case

An accident case in Washington County court yesterday was settled for $3,100 in favor of a Charleroi father and his son.

The suit was entered by Harry Gelder Sr., and Harry Gelder Jr., against Frank Arrigo, also of Charleroi.

The said alleged that Arrigo parked his car on Lookout Ave., Charleroi, April 26, 1956, and that the unattended car broke loose and struck the 11-year-old Gelder while the latter was riding a bicycle.

Ike Confident Soldier Will Get Fair Trial

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he is confident William S. Girard, the Army American GI, will get a fair trial in Japanese courts.

He told his news conference that the U.S. government will follow the case every step of the way and intervene through diplomatic channels if it appears that any injustice might be done.

Eisenhower praised the Japanese judicial system. He said U.S. legal experts have told him Japanese courts have been eminently fair in the trial of American soldiers who have appeared before their jurisdiction.

Girard, an Army Specialist 3-C, is accused of killing a Japanese woman. Mrs. Naka Sakai, who she was scavenging for empty cartridge shells on a U.S. Army range last January.

U.S. and Japanese authorities argued for weeks over who should bring him to trial and the United States announced Tuesday that he would be turned over to the Japanese courts under the "status of forces" agreement since he acted "in the line" of duties when he fired on Mrs. Sakai.

Administration officials rejected demands by some congressmen that the "status of forces" agreement be renegotiated.

Both State and Defense Department spokesmen said this and other "status of forces" treaties with foreign nations are essential if the United States wants to keep its troops on foreign soil.

The statement came in response to comments by Congress who said the nation must "weigh the risks" against the rights of its troops abroad without jeopardizing their safety.

Tuesday's decision to turn the Army Specialist 3-C over to the

One Drowned in Boat Collision In Monongahela

CLAIRTON, Pa. (UP) — One man was drowned but three others were pulled to safety Tuesday night when a 16-foot motorboat crashed into a barge on the Monongahela River near here and sank.

Missing and presumed dead was Alex Patsko, 30, Munhall. Rescued drenched but otherwise unharmed, were Donald Saracco, 31, Gene Mannella, 26, and Millard Crane Jr., 26, all of Munhall.

Police said the accident occurred near the U.S. Steel Corporation's No. 2 coal hoist at Belle Hudson. The speedboat, powered by an inboard motor, crashed into a barge moored at the company landing about 8 p.m.

Crewmen aboard a nearby U.S. Steel tugboat pulled the three survivors to safety.

Rarick Doubts Any Need for Probe of Union

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The spearhead of a rank-and-file protest movement in the United Steelworkers said today any differences with the union's international administration could be worked out without a congressional investigation.

Don C. Rarick, a McKeesport, Pa., millhand who lost out by less than 2-to-1 in his bid to unseat David J. McDonald as president of the 1,200,000-member union, declared:

"I do not believe there is anything warranting a congressional investigation or a review by the courts."

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) indicated Tuesday staff investigators for the Senate Rackets Committee were studying the USW election to determine if McDonald used union funds in his campaign. The investigation, he said, was touched off by about 20 complaints from Rarick supporters.

McDonald earlier said he would welcome an investigation. "We have nothing to hide," he wired Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the committee that exposed the financial dealings of Teamsters President Dave Beck.

Rarick told the United Press "I honestly believe that Mr. McDonald has done the best as he saw it in administering the union."

The protest leader also pointed out the union's top policy making International Executive Board has adopted a tight financial control program which eliminates any anxiety about the use of USW funds.

Rarick, a relative unknown until a few months before he tried for the international presidency in the USW's election last Feb. 12, declared his movement was designed "not to oust McDonald but to crystalize a rank-and-file protest against policies of the international union."

"We wanted a recognition of the rank and file," he said.

The major point of difference was an increase in union dues from $3 to $5 a month approved by the union's international convention at Los Angeles last September. Protest leaders accused McDonald of "railroading" through the dues hike.

"I have every indication", Rarick asserted, "that our differences may be worked out."

Cy Johns Talks To Rotary Club Here Yesterday

The Monessen Rotary Club had Cyrus N. Johns as guest of honor for its weekly luncheon at Johnson's yesterday.

The president of American Chain & Cable Co. spoke briefly of his experiences as a member of the local club when he was manager of the company's Page Division in the 1920s and 1930s.

And since then, he said, he has been continually impressed in his travels outside the United States with the international influence of Rotary.

"Rotary's principles of service," Johns declared, "have a great stabilizing influence on world affairs."

Following his talk the film, "The Monessen Story", was shown. The picture was used by Mayor Hugo J. Parente and his City Hall slate of candidates in the recent Democratic mayoralty campaign and depicts some of the city's progress in recent years. The Mayor was a guest of the Rotary Club.

A large number of out-of-town guests, many of them here for "Cy Johns Day", were also present. These included W. F. Wheeler, Jr. and Edward Williams, both vice-presidents of American Chain & Cable.

Also present were several city and school district officials and Chamber of Commerce representatives.

Eagle Scouts To Get Awards

Three youths will receive Eagle Scout badges tonight at a special ceremony in the Monessen Civic Center.

Those honored will be Steven Bewszka, John A. Dragan and Robert Gillingham, all members of Boy Scout Troop 3 Explorer Post.

Other members of the Troop, which is sponsored by the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will receive awards. They are James Cantoni, William Hurrianko and Ralph Krasik, first class; William Dacko, Thomas Lender, Jay Pierotti, Joseph Mallino and Wayne Ciepellia, second class and James Dankosky, tenderfoot.

The affair, which begins at 7 p. m., is open to the public.

the budget would be today if the government had followed the plans laid down by the last Democratic administration.

—As for a pending proposal in Congress to grant a jury trial for persons cited for contempt in civil rights cases, Eisenhower said he agrees with the late President William Howard Taft that an effort to put a jury trial between a court order and the enforcement of that order is an invitation to anarchy.

—He said that as long as the law requires it, there can be no American trade with Red China. But he thinks in the long run it may not be possible to prohibit such trade.

No U. S. Argument With Khrushchev

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has decided against engaging in any formal "equal time" argument with Nikita Khrushchev on disarmament, socialism and other issues, administration officials said today.

Specific points made by the Soviet Communist Party boss in his Sunday TV interview may, however, be raised from time to time through diplomatic channels. Khrushchev's words may have some value, diplomats said, in future discussions or negotiations.

New Amendment Seen

McClellan told newsmen that if young Beck and McElroy are not convicted of contempt Congress "will have to do something else" to prevent such use of the Fifth Amendment.

A reporter asked if McClellan meant Congress might propose a constitutional amendment.

"If it takes that, yes," said McClellan. "The alternative would be a law and order breakdown. You couldn't convict any criminals" if they and other witnesses could take the Fifth Amendment capriciously in all attempts to investigate them.

Work on Device to Give Tornado Alarm

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—The Southwest's unprecedented string of tornadoes has spurred work on a tiny device which could alert 95 per cent of American homes in seconds and be used for civil defense as well as storm warnings.

Dr. Charles N. Kimball, head of the Midwest Research Institute which has been developing the device for 18 months, says it should be ready for the mass market in about two years.

It is about the size of a pack of cigarettes, would sell for about $2, would be installed in each home and would operate off the electric system in the community.

Has Powerful Buzzer

Equipped with a powerful buzzer, it would be set off by an extra impulse from the local power plant. It could be plugged in with electric clocks or radios.

"We need more research to meet the technical problems," Kimball says. "But the power companies small and you can mass produce them."

The device, Kimball says, would throw of a signal, nearly all homes in the nation could know of an emergency in seconds. That's based on the fact that more than 95 per cent of all people in the U.S. now use electric power.

Demonstration Planned

Kimball says the next move is to conduct a demonstration project for the device in a city of about 100,000. A place for the demonstration will be announced soon.

Midwest Research has been working on the device under a contract with the Civil Defense Administration. It is believed separate warning sounds could be worked out for tornadoes and for air alerts.

The device looks like a miniature radio set, Kimball says.

"It has a couple of little tubes, a copper coil, a buzzer and transistors," he says. "There also are one or two printed circuits loaded with metallic powders in which case it would be — a process common in electronics.

"This way you can make the devices very intricate and very small. Then you can mass produce them."

double the payroll of 1949 and 13 times the payroll of 1932."

He then cited various benefits the plant has extended its employes, such as life insurance, hospitalization and pensions.

During his address, Johns traced the history of Monessen and the Page plant since his arrival in 1916. Speaking of the present day, he said:

"I am truly amazed at the progressive strides that have been made in Monessen the past several years. Today I toured the City and was actually surprised at the things that have been done, are being planned and the wonderful spirit of cooperation I have found among industries, city officials and the citizens themselves.

Praises Progress

"You in Monessen are doing a wonderful job towards progress."

He concluded his address by stating.

"It has truly been a most interesting and impressive day for me, and I sincerely appreciate the honor and recognition extended."

Johns was presented with two plaques in appreciation of his association with Monessen. Carl H. Breuer, vice president-operations, Pittsburgh Steel Co., in behalf of the Chamber, presented one plaque and John Czelen, former president of Page Local 1391, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO), presented the other from the local. Besides the plaques, the Page Federal Credit Union will donate three volumes of the encyclopedia in Johns' name to the Monessen Public Library.

Last night's program opened with the invocation by the Rev. Abner P. Richard, of First Presbyterian Church. Then Col. William J. Huston, general chairman, introduced some 30 guests, many of them out-of-town representatives of industries and utility firms.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente delivered the welcome address in which he said:

Parente Welcome

"The City of Monessen values and deeply appreciates the Page Steel and Wire Division. It is to be complimented on its present expansion program which is keeping in line with Monessen's road to progress."

Also speaking was Charles W. Hagerstrand, Chamber president. He called for the continued cooperation of the members of the Chamber.

Following remarks by Breuer and Czelen, C. M. Fite, of the State Chamber of Commerce, presented awards recently won by the City in a community development contest.

H. M. Jerome, of West Penn Power Co., also made awards in the same contest.

Harvey W. Seymour, general manager at Page, introduced Johns.

The program ended with the benediction by the Rev. John Conway, of St. Leonard Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Patty Bell, "Miss Mon Valley of 1956", entertained with two vocal selections, and H. Denver Rhome played organ music during dinner. Al Zeffiro led group singing.

Last night's dinner climaxed a full day's activities for Johns. It began with a tour of the Page plant at 9 a. m. At noon he was guest speaker at the Monessen Rotary Club and in the afternoon he attended a reception in his honor at Monongahela Valley Country Club.

A film showing some of yesterday's "Cy Johns Day" activities will be shown over KDKA-TV, Pittsburgh, beginning at 6:45 p. m. today, according to George Cieply, executive secretary of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce.

children were among the crowds.

The approximate one-hour tour covered almost every department in the mill. It began at the entrance to the main plant and ended in the partially-completed new wire patenting plant.

The visitors saw all types of wire being made and tested as they entered. They then saw gates, fences and cables either made or in the process of being made. Among the departments visited were cold roll, straight and cut, fence fitting, wire drawing and wrapping and bundling.

The new building housed a dramatic grouping of exhibits of the products made at Page and 21 other divisions and plants of ACCO.

At the end of the tour refreshments were served.

Page workers put out the welcome mat for the visitors and were eager to explain the operations of the mill.

Paul Nicoden, Page official in charge of open house, today said:

"We at Page were overwhelmed by the crowds visiting our plant. It was more successful than we had hoped."

Ex-Ziegfeld Star Dies at Age 56

INVERNESS, Calif. (UP) — Mary May Hastins, one - time Ziegfeld star and former wife of actor Richard Barthlemess, died Tuesday at her Inverness home at the age of 56.

Known on the stage as Mary Hay, she entered the Ziegfeld Follies as a teen-aged chorus girl and quickly became a star on stage and screen.

More Coal Begins Long Pipe Journey

CLEVELAND (UP) — Another 200 tons of coal is scheduled to start the 108-mile route through the world's largest coal pipeline Thursday from the Georgetown Mine near Cadiz to Eastlake, Ohio.

The first shipment of 200 tons reached the Eastlake plant of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Tuesday night. Commercial operation of the pipe is expected to begin in July or August.

A similar test shipment last February failed as it clogged the line causing a long delay in getting the pipe open.

The coal, finely ground, is mixed with water to form "slurry" before being pumped through the line. Improperly screened particles got into the mixture to cause the earlier stoppage.

The line is operated by the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. in conjunction with CEI officials.

Engineers estimate the pipeline will save the electric company more than a million dollars a year. The Eastlake furnaces consume some 1,600,000 tons a year.

Elmer L. Lindseth, CEI president, said "coal transportation amounts to approximately 45 per cent of what we pay for each ton of coal. Any practical way we can get it to our plants cheaper is well worth the effort."

The line cost more than 12 million dollars to build but is expected to pay for itself in savings in 10-12 years.

OBITUARIES

MRS. WILLIAM ATKINSON

A bride of only a few days, Janice Jericho Atkinson, 19, of 712 McKean Ave., Donora died suddenly Monday night in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Mrs. Atkinson was born in Monongahela and moved to Donora in 1942 where she attended Donora schools.

Survivors include her husband, William Atkinson; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jericho, of Donora; four sisters, Mrs. Herman (Florence) Brunell, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Edward (Katherine) Gray and Mrs. George (Meda) Sillence, both of Donora and Mrs. Joseph (Mary Lou) Babich, of Pittsburgh; four brothers, Kenneth, of Donora; Ronald and James in the U. S. Army and Raymond, at home; two stepbrothers, Andrew and Clarence Nastasi, both of Donora.

Friends are being received at the Lawson Funeral Home, 701 Thompson Ave., Donora, where services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m.

REESE SERVICES

Services for Mrs. Mae H. Reese, of Fairchance, will be held tomorrow in the First Baptist Church of Fairchance at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Reese is survived among others, by a brother Ray Wood, and a sister, Mrs. Jackson Eckhart, both of Pricedale.

Friends are being received in the home of a son, Charles Reese in Fairchance until 12 noon tomorrow.

Would Penalize Jury Eavesdropping

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate has approved legislation to penalize anyone convicted of deliberately eavesdropping on jury deliberations.

The measure must return to the House for concurrence in a Senate change by which the offender would have to "intentionally" rather than "knowingly" listen in on jury matters.

Body Recovered From Lake Erie

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—The body of one of four Washington County fishermen missing since May 11 was recovered Tuesday from Lake Erie.

The badly decomposed body of Stanley Vulcer, 35, Lawrence, was spotted by a teen-aged fisherman about a mile and a half off shore near Girard. Identity was established through a driver's license found in the victim's pocket.

Still missing were John Sklarski, John Trump and Leslie Pierce, all of Canonsburg, who went with Vulcer on the weekend fishing trip. Their craft was found partly submerged May 13.

Dies in Hospital

BILBAO, Spain (UP)—Alberto de Gorostiaga Ipina, well-known professor of singing at the New York Conservatory of Music, died here Tuesday. He was 77.

Parochial Bus Problem Local

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation introduced in the state Senate Tuesday would permit local school districts to make arrangements with parochial school authorities to transport parochial students in public school buses.

The local boards would be authorized to make agreements with parochial officials on how the cost of the service would be met. The bill would permit the local district to pay the entire costs from district funds, part of the costs or have the parochial school pay them.

The measure was introduced on a bipartisan basis by seven senators—two Republicans and five Democrats.

Highways Dept. Workers Say They Were Forced to Give

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Nine former employes of the State Highways Department have testified that they were forced to contribute to a 1954 Republican primary election campaign fund under threats there would be no work for them the next day.

The state planned to call about 12 more witnesses today in the payroll macing trial of L. J. Curran, Pittsburgh district highways engineer, and four former or present Allegheny County officials of the department.

The defendants are from the 15 Republican state officials and other employes indicted in September, 1954, following an Allegheny County investigation of charges that state payrollers were coerced into paying one per cent of their annual salaries into a campaign kitty for election candidates supported by former Gov. John S. Fine.

Nine previous defendants have been cleared. The witnesses who testified Tuesday were the first produced by the state to assert that they had contributed on a "pay or else" basis.

In addition to Curran, the defendants on trial before Judge Samuel A. Weiss are Oscar Bohing, McKeesport, former superintendent of the Aspinwall maintenance plant; plant foreman Michael Hertz; Alexander Campbell, Oakland maintenance plant foreman, and Thomas McElheny, assistant county maintenance superintendent.

Much of the Tuesday testimony mentioned Hertz as the man who called the workers into his office and told them to make the one per cent contributions.

John Ostanoski of Cheswick, testified: "Mike called us into his office and said 'They want one per cent if you don't pay there won't be any work.' I considered that a threat."

William Limegrover, of Nadine, employed in 1954 as a truck driver, said "Hertz told me to pay one per cent and to have the money in by May 4, which was the next day, or there'd be no work for me." He said he contributed $22.

Stanley Kotarbo, who said he earned $3,200 as a truck driver and paid $32, made out a money order to Kenneth Long, treasurer of the fund and gave it to Hertz on May 4 after "I was told that if it wasn't paid by May 4 there'd be no work."

Band-Orchestra Parents in Final Meeting of Year

The final meeting of the year was held by the Band-Orchestra Parents Association Monday night at the Monessen High School band room. Mrs. Michael Kunsa, president, was in charge.

Reports were given by Mrs. Alvin Roberts, acting secretary; Arvo Isaho, treasurer and Mrs. Michael Buchar, who reported on the recent banquet held for members of the band and orchestra.

A letter was read from Band President Bill Lear thanking the organization for the banquet. Julius D'Alfonso, band and orchestra director, expressed appreciation for the cooperation of the new organization in all activities.

A bake sale was planned for June 28 with Mrs. Gene Farnsworth and Mrs. George Cvetan as co-chairmen.

The next meeting will be Sept. 9.

House Begins Fight On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House today staged a fight within a fight over the civil rights bill.

House members were embroiled in a squabble over the procedure to use in debating the bill.

The House Rules Committee recommended four days of general debate before considering any of the dozens of amendments expected to be proposed.

But southerners opposed the recommendation in their efforts to table the bill.

Their opposition already gained one day of delay. General debate was scheduled to begin today. However, southerners conceded they had little chance of preventing general debate from beginning Thursday.

Backers predicted the bill will be passed late next week.

The bill includes right-to-vote protection and authority for the government to bring injunction suits in federal courts to prevent civil rights violations. One of the big fights will be over an amendment guaranteeing trial by jury to persons charged with contempt under the bill.

Other congressional news:

Defense: Senators put Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles on the spot over a controversial Pentagon order temporarily restricting military spending. A Senate appropriations subcommittee called Quarles for questioning. The Air Force — which Quarles headed until recently—has been openly critical of the spending restriction.

Money: Democrats on the Senate Finance Committee prepared to question Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey for a week in the committee's investigation of administration money policies. The hearings are expected to begin about June 18.

Natural Gas: Two Midwestern congressmen—Reps. Merwin Coad (D-Iowa) and Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.)—charged the proposed new natural gas bill would benefit only the gas producers. Reuss said it would cost Wisconsin natural gas consumers an extra 10 to 15 million dollars a year.

FBI Files: Chairman Francis E. Walter of the House committee on Un-American Activities introduced a bill that would nullify a Supreme Court decision opening G-Men's secret files in federal criminal prosecutions. Two other congressmen called on Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. to recommend legislation to protect the files.

Soldier

Japanese courts touched off a storm of protest in this country.

Investigations were ordered in both House and Senate. A two-man Senate armed services subcommittee called defense officials to explain behind closed doors today. Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), one of the members, called the Girard decision "outrageous." He told a reporter a "very serious error" was made in the Pentagon "and we want to see who actually made it."

The announcement of the final U.S. decision said an earlier agreement to turn Girard over to Japan had been "authorized" and this country could not revoke its agreement now. It did not say who authorized the earlier move.

Military officials pointed out that under Girard's indictment by the Japanese for causing death by wounding—the most lenient homicide charge in the Japanese criminal code — Girard would be liable to a sentence of 2-15 years in prison.

They said a U.S. court-martial sentence would be three years. They were not clear whether this would be the minimum sentence that could be imposed, and indicated the possible penalty might be higher.

More Sloppiness In Election Here

THE MESS (there is no better word for it) that has resulted in connection with the Republican nominations for local offices in Monessen is not calculated to increase public confidence in the election procedures. In the light of this predicament and the vote frauds of recent years, outsiders must be wondering whether we are equal to the responsibilities of self-government.

Originally at fault in the present instance are those alleged leaders of the Republican party both in Westmoreland County and in Monessen who permitted their party's nominations to go by default. This was a serious breakdown of party responsibility, and we trust the Republican voters of Monessen will somehow see to it that it never happens again.

As to the handling of the inevitable write-in votes, both the County Election Board, composed of the three county commissioners, and the members of several local precinct election boards seem to have fallen down on their jobs.

The County Election Board could easily have foreseen the difficulties that would arise when there were no candidates for several offices on the Republican ballot. And it should have taken whatever steps were necessary to make sure that the precinct election boards knew what to do with write-in and sticker votes.

But even without special instructions, the precinct election boards should have been familiar with the procedures before the polls opened. And if they weren't, they should have sought advice from the proper county officials. The local boards must bear the ultimate responsibility for the mess which the authorities at Greensburg are now trying to straighten out.

We had hoped that the vote fraud cases would cure the sloppiness in the conduct of elections in Monessen. And we think some improvement has resulted.

But the experience in the primaries last month suggests that there are still some people serving on election boards here who don't know their business. And it is up to the County Election Board to correct that condition promptly.

MONESSEN still has some way to go, obviously, before it can claim to have mastered the art of democratic self-government.

There is no excuse for not having our elections conducted efficiently and honestly in accordance with the law.

Neither is there any excuse for a community of this size not to have a virile two-party system.

Let's face it: these conditions are symptoms of political immaturity. We are simply not making proper use of the instruments on which our freedom and progress depend.

An Important Case

THE DECISION of the U. S. Supreme Court which probably will require E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. to divest itself of all but part of the 23 per cent interest which it owns in General Motors Corp. is one which will have far-reaching effects.

In reaching its decision, the Court found that combination between Du Pont and General Motors is a violation of the anti-trust laws. It overruled a district court judge in Illinois who had found to the contrary.

The average layman is not equipped to cope with the legal arguments involved in this intricate case the trial of which required seven weeks of testimony, much of it technically complicated.

Nevertheless, one of the dangers inherent in the enterprise system lies in the kind of combination which the Supreme Court found exist between Du Pont and General Motors. Such combinations of gigantic economic power tend to stifle the competition that is the life of the business system is to flourish.

The anti-trust laws have been designed, not as an obstacle to business success and efficiency but to prevent bigness as such. Their purpose is to avert the kind of cartelization which is the antithesis of free enterprise and which ultimately destroy, not just economic freedom, but political and social freedom as well.

Repeatedly throughout this nation's history people have insisted upon laws to curb pitfall and they have demanded enforcement of these laws.

The Du Pont-General Motors decision seems to constitute assurance that these laws will be effective operation. And for that reason undoubtedly will be approved by public opinion.

Merry-Go-Round—

Dictator Has Friends in High Places

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This column was the first to reveal that ex-Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., had been hired by Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. It's only fair, therefore, to report on other relatives of those in high places who have been playing footsie with the Caesar of the Caribbean.

Mr. Pearson

The list includes:

1. The son-in-law of John Foster Dulles, Robert Hinshaw.

2. The brother-in-law of President Eisenhower, Col. Gordon Moore.

3. The ex-assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs, Henry Holland.

The chief source of Dictator Trujillo's wealth is the Dominican sugar industry. He owns most of the sugar mills in his country. It was no accident, therefore, that Congress last year increased the quota of Dominican sugar admitted to the United States. It took this action despite opposing pressure of beet sugar growers in our Rocky Mountain states and cane growers in Louisiana.

Here is part of the backstage story of what happened:

Dulles Kin Entertained

In 1954, Dulles' son-in-law offered to help Trujillo get his sugar quota increased. The dictator then sent his personal plane, a luxurious flying yacht, the "San Cristobal," to fly Dulles' daughter, Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, her husband, and children to the Dominican Republic.

For three months the Hinshaws stayed at the beautiful seashore Hotel Jaragua, running up a bill of no small proportions. Hinshaw tried to promote several deals with the dictator, finally overstayed his welcome. Trujillo paid his bills.

Hinshaw, when queried by this column as to why he had not registered as a foreign agent, as required if an American works for or accepts funds to represent a foreign government, said that he did not do any work for Trujillo.

Informed that some people registered if they received expenses from a foreign government, Hinshaw admitted that his expenses were paid, but did not agree that he should have registered.

Under the Foreign Registration Act there is nothing wrong about an American working for a foreign government, but it is specified that the American public has a right to know when someone is so working. The law firm of Secretary of State Dulles has been registered in the past as working for various foreign governments, also the law firm of ex-Secretary Dean Acheson. It is a criminal offense not to register.

NOTE — The Justice Department recently indicted John Frank, an ex-FBI agent who wired Trujillo's palace for sound for failing to register as a foreign agent.

Ex-State Department Official

One former high official who definitely helped put across Trujillo's sugar quota increase is able Henry Holland, former top official in the State Department for Latin American affairs. Holland scarcely got out of the State Department when he headed for the Dominican Republic. He not only made several trips, but got on the payroll of Trujillo's mining consultant, William Pawley, the former Ambassador to Brazil.

It can be argued that Holland gets his fees directly from Pawley, therefore doesn't have to register. Likewise Franklin Roosevelt Jr. might have argued that he got his fees through Charles Patrick Clark, lobbyist for both Franco and Trujillo. However Roosevelt registered.

Ike's Brother-in-Law

The most highly connected of all Americans in Trujillo-land is Ike's brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore. The Colonel now retired from the Army, is a genial soul, frequently at the White House. His appearances in the background of the President's nationwide telecasts haven't hurt his prestige in Washington where much depends on influence.

Colonel Moore has made several trips to the tightly controlled island of the Caribbean, has sometimes taken his family along. During one of these trips he negotiated a highly complicated sugar deal with the American-owned but Trujillo-tolerated South Puerto-Rican Sugar Co.

This involved 7,000 tons of "green sugar," which Moore got shipped into the USA as hog feed. This classification meant first, that the sugar was never counted against the Dominican quota.

Second, it passed through customs with a cheaper tariff rate. As blackstrap molasses for cattle or hog feed it paid a duty of 1.5 cents per hundred pounds instead of 6.65 cent per hundred charged on cane sugar. Later the U. S. Customs Bureau reversed itself and demanded the 6.65 cent rate on Moore's shipment.

Originally the dollar was subdivided into halves, quarters, and cents, there were no quarters.

Today and Tomorrow—

Khrushchev on Television

By WALTER LIPPMANN

During the television interview with Khrushchev, I had the feeling that it ought to be more interesting than it was. This was not because he said what had so often been said before, and that at no point did he depart from the official line of policy. That was to be expected, and no one who tuned in on Sunday afternoon had any reason to suppose that he was going to hear anything startling or novel.

Mr. Lippmann

The real reason for interviewing public men on television is not to communicate news but to reveal what they are like. To this end what the big boss of the Russians is like when he talks. The trouble on Sunday, so it seemed to me, was that one could see Khrushchev but could not listen to him. There was a baffling disconnection between the picture of Khrushchev talking and the English words that the translator was uttering.

It was evident that the interpreter, who was certainly doing his best, did not have the time to do more than give the gist of what Khrushchev was saying. The gist was not very interesting. What was lost was the way Khrushchev was saying it, why he was so obviously trying about something he was ing, and how he really felt when he made his assertion.

Translation a Problem

I have, of course, no doubt that television can solve the problem of translations. It may be that it is impossible to have an interview which is unrehearsed and where there is no script, and a first-rate translator who can make instantaneously a faithful translation. Good translators, even then, may have plenty of time, are very few.

Yet the problem of translation is all-important in television. We see and hear to communicate what is said but to reveal the personality of the speaker by showing what he is like when he talks.

Khrushchev's remarks [illegible] it seemed to me, very interesting. It must be one of the sources of his personal power for people like to follow men who are not themselves in doubt.

Yet extraordinary as it was for a big Communist to be interviewed without preparation, he was never in any real danger. The questions he was asked were few and they were general, and like all very high personages he was questioned but he was not cross-questioned. Protected in this way, he was able to take full advantage of the strong positions which the Soviet Union has staked out for itself and has preempted in the propaganda contest.

He is in favor of the evacuation of all of the foreign troops from all countries — from Hungary and Romania as well as from Germany and France. This is an attractive proposal which, however, he would never dream of making if he thought there was the slightest chance of its being accepted. He is also in favor of the abolition of nuclear weapons and in favor of drastic disarmament. Here, it is heads he wins and tails we lose. He gains by making the proposal, and he gains when we refuse it.

Sooner or later the government's public relations experts, say Mr. Lawson, will have to find a way to deal with this dilemma.

Stalemate Continues

Khrushchev said nothing. I thought, to contradict or to cast doubt on the prevailing estimates of Soviet intentions among close students and observers. The military stalemate [illegible] was recognized at the summit conference in Geneva in 1955, continues. There is no prospect of the kind of breakthrough which could give either side indisputable superiority. War as an instrument of national policy is, therefore, ruled out, and there is no alternative to the kind of competitive co-existence which Khrushchev talked so much about.

One of the more hopeful things he implied in his interview was that, if the tension were relaxed, he was prepared to accept the probability that within the Communist orbit there would be greater national freedom (this is not to be confused with personal freedom). In this respect he has come a very long way from the old Stalinist imperialism.

In general, Khrushchev confirmed the view that there will be no war and that there will be no settlement. It is true that he supported the idea of a limited agreement about armaments, and he encouraged the hope that the Stassen-Zorin negotiations in London may come to something. But the area of any conceivable agreement will be very small as compared with the vast areas of conflict where no agreement is in sight.

There was no sense of urgency in Khrushchev's remarks about settling the great issues. There is, we might as well recognize, no sense of urgency here. There is not much of it in Western Europe, which includes Dr. Adenauer's Germany. Perhaps we have all learned to live precariously but not too uncomfortably in a divided and unsettled world.

Eisenhower Regime's Anti-trust Actions Not Pro-business

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, (UP) — The charge that the Eisenhower administration is by and for big business may sag somewhat under weight of Justice Department activity in the anti-trust field.

This week's Supreme Court blockbuster held that Du Pont ownership of 23 per cent of General Motors stock was in violation of the anti-trust laws.

Mr. Wilson

Newspaper readers who skim the big headlines en route to the sports and comic pages easily could be convinced thereby that the Eisenhower Department of Justice had moved in hard on the two great corporations commonly most closely identified with the administration.

Far down in the Du Pont-General Motors story, if at all, was the information that the fuse on this blockbuster was lighted way back in 1949 by the Truman administration Department of Justice. The attorney general at that time was Tom C. Clark, now an associate justice of the Supreme Court. Clark's earlier connection with the case explains why he did not participate in the high court's judgment of it.

Conclusion By Brownell

Eisenhower's Justice Department did, of course, share in the prosecution of the Du Pont-General Motors case. Whether Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. would have begun the suit can be no more now than a matter of speculation. The hard fact is that he brought it to successful conclusion.

The charge that the Eisenhower administration is by and for big business is a Democratic indictment and decidedly in the field of political controversy between the left and right wings of American political thinking.

A somewhat different complaint heard sometimes among Republicans is that the Eisenhower Justice Department under Brownell has been over-busy in hauling big business before the bar of justice. Partly in anger but with overtones of wry humor, Republicans have been heard to say that Brownell confines his anti-trust actions to the administration's best friends. That feeling among some Republicans is part of the explanation of the current disenchantment of many big businessmen with the Eisenhower administration.

Actions Include Big Ones

Brownell has filed some big suits. He hauled the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. into court on charges of price fixing in the field of advertising. Brownell got a consent decree which the department considers to have been a victory. That action sometimes is cited by persons who would defend the Eisenhower administration against the assertion that it fosters the devotion in the United States of a one-party press.

The Truman administration was counted no friend of big business. During President Truman's last four White House years, his Justice Department filed 109 civil and 73 criminal anti-trust suits for a total of 182.

During the first four Eisenhower years, the Justice Department filed 94 civil and 69 criminal anti-trust cases for a total of 163. Brownell, the Eisenhower attorney general, has gone after big game—about as big as any stalked in the courts by Truman administration prosecutors.

The Lighter Side—

Familiar Sayings and How They Started

By ALFRED LEECH

CHICAGO (UP) — English is a meaty language.

For example, you can go whole hog and take the bull by the horns. You can bring home the bacon.

Of course you might take a cold shoulder, in which case you'd do some beefing.

Long before jive-talk, Americans were coining colorful similes about meat and livestock.

According to the magazine National Livestock Producer, some of these phrases date back 300 years. Others were imported and go back to antiquity.

Here's how some of the best known sayings began:

Great horn spoon: A phase denoting soup ladles, strainers and mixing spoons once carved from the horns of cows or sheep. In the 1850's somebody adopted it as a mild cuss word which could be used in the presence of ladies.

Hell for leather: The beating a leather saddle takes when a cowpoke rides at top speed.

End of your rope: Farmers used to stake horses and cows out to pasture on a rope. The animals grazed in a circle around the stake. When they came to the end of the rope they obviously could go no farther.

Whole hog: In Colonial days a shilling was nicknamed a "hog." Later the American dime was give the same name. Prices were lower then, and when a fellow spent a "whole hog" he was living it up.

Cut a dido: Dido, the mythical queen who founded Carthage, agreed to settle only as much land as she could enclose with a bull's hide. So she cut the hide into hair-like cords long enough to encircle enough land to build the city of Carthage.

Hammy: Minstrel singers rubbed their faces with burnt cork for Negro impersonations. Later they mixed black powder with lard, because it was easier to apply and remove. Thus, minstrel men became known as "hamfatters." Later the synonym for mediocre actor became simply, "ham."

Bring home the bacon: Bacon was essential family fare, and the ability to bring it home indicated a steady income. The monks of Dunmow in Essex, England, would give bacon to any man who knelt before the church door and swore that "for 12 months and a day, I have never had a household brawl nor wished myself unmarried."

The Views of Others—

Westmoreland Politics

(From the Valley Daily News, Tarentum)

The results of the May 21 primary have given Westmoreland's Democratic political machine nothing to gloat about.

Its judicial candidates Judge Bauer and District Attorney Sculco, were anything but impressive in defeating Joseph M. Loughran on the ticket of the party. Their showing on the Republican ticket was very poor.

At the same time this was happening, Raymond H. Turner lost his bid for the clerk of courts nomination. Turner happens to be the son of "Buddy" Turner who is reputed to be the boss of the county Democratic machine.

In what happened at the polls it is easy to discern a rising tide of independence among Westmoreland Democrats. They are at last beginning to realize how their votes have been used by a few selfish and ruthless politicians to cloak themselves in tremendous power which has rarely if ever been used in the public interest. They are about fed up on the machine and its brazen tactics.

The News hopes that Robert H. Rial and Avra N. Pershing Jr., the Republican candidates for judge, will start right now to plan and execute one of the most aggressive political campaigns in Westmoreland's history. They are able and upright men. They have only scorn and contempt for the racketeers and racketeering element which have so long dominated the county. They will, if elected, put an end to politically tainted justice in the Greensburg court house. Undoubtedly what they have to offer will appeal to every right-thinking man and woman, regardless of whether they are Democrats or Republicans.

It's high time for Westmoreland County to be rescued from the ruthless political bossism that has infested it for years. The job can be done and it must be done by the people — the people, that is, who go to the polls.

The political bosses and their pals, the racketeers, have no better friends and supporters than those people of good intentions who are so occupied with trifles on election day that they neglect to go to the polls.

ON THE BALL

Good Year for Valley Schools

This has been another good year for valley schools in WPIAL sports. Monongahela's soccer team went all the way. So did Monessen's fine tennis doubles team of Joe Kurey and Jim Baker. The Greyhound volleyballers reached the championship round as did the Charleroi High footballers and the Centerville High golfers. Charleroi also made it to the semi-finals in basketball and the quarter-finals in baseball. Only in track were valley athletes overshadowed . . . Bill Mitnick, the Monessen Ozark pitcher, has now fanned 48 batters, while walking just seven in five starting, and three relief appearances this season.

The world champion New York Yankees will stage a tryout camp in Charleroi on Friday and Saturday for boys under 21. Scouts Biff Skiff and Pete Gebrian will take charge of the classes. Players are asked to report at 10 a. m. to the CHS Stadium with their own gloves, shoes and uniforms, if they have one . . . The American Legion Post in Donora has formed a golf club. Plans are being developed for a championship tournament in September . . . Charley (Whitey) Glazner, a Pirate mound ace in the early twenties, is now an assistant golf pro at the Charlie Boswell Golf Course in Birmingham, Ala.

Ozarks Have Solid Hitting

With Mike Young back in the Ozarks fold, the Monessen team has a solid hitting punch again. The Ozarks have already stroked 25 homers this season even though one of their long-distance clouters — Ron Danko — has missed a good part of the campaign with an ankle injury . . . Incidentally the Ozarks would be serious MVL pennant threats if they had more pitching. Only Bill Mitnick has been a consistant winner. Happily, teen-aged Myron Sepitko has indicated that he may develop into a top-notcher . . . Ed Drapcho, Penn State's star left-hander, recorded his 100th strikeout during his three-year college baseball career the other day in the NCAA playoff game with Manhattan.

Joe (Ron) Bozik, of Donora, hit .309 this past season for the Lafayette College nine which made the NCAA District 2 playoffs. Bozik is also the school's standout grid quarterback . . . By the way, Bozik's chief football competition this season is expected to come from another Mon Valley League product, Wayne Cipriani . . . Nick Stulock, the crafty West Newton veteran who was a former Mon Valley League star, has won his last four pitching starts with Blythedale in the rough McKeesport Daily News League. He's appeared in 11 of his team's first 14 games this season.

Plan More Races at Uniontown

Those midget auto races on Memorial Day at the new asphalt oval in Uniontown were so successful that the promoters have decided to stage weekly stock car events. The first show will be held Sunday beginning at 2.0 p. m. Drivers from the tri-state area will be invited to take part . . . New Eagle's entry in the Mon Valley League plans to move its home base to Victory Hill in the next couple of days. The NE diamond will soon give way to a coal tipple. When that happens Manager Frank Furiga and his boys will play their home games at the recently improved Victory Hill site.

Today's Sports Parade—

Hard to Hold Down Little Guys in Sports

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—You have to pack a little something extra to make a big trip into the sporting big time.

This has been proved often, for the little guys always find the going rough. Yet they couldn't hold down such mighty mites as Phil Rizzuto, Bob Tosk, Chet Forte, Bitsy Grant, Sammy Lee and Davey O'Brien.

Take, for instance the chewing tobacco kid.

This, of course, is Nellie Fox, the mighty atom of the Chicago White Sox. As of Tuesday night he was no less than second in the American League batting parade with a fat .357 average.

Nellie is the current Eddie Stanky. They used to say of the redoubtable Stanky that "he can't run, can't hit, can't throw—but he's the guy who'll beat you."

But at the moment don't tell those American League pitchers that little Nellie can't hit. The five-foot, eight-inch atomizer is murdering them.

Has Many Drawbacks

Under the microscope he has many drawbacks. His arm isn't too strong and, even though he's hitting, he doesn't look impressive at the plate. He misses the double play occasionally and he doesn't hit the ball out of the park. He hasn't hit his first major league homer, as a matter of fact, until his 804th time at bat.

Nor is Nellie too popular among his mates. There are some who call him "showboat" because of his constant hustle and holler. The reason is obvious. He makes too many of his mates look lazy.

The little man caught on with the lowly Philadelphia Athletics only as a war-time spare. Nellie was only 16 when his dad finally gave in to his pleadings and took him to the A's camp at Frederick, Md., for a tryout. The late Connie Mack admired his spunk—and the cigar jutting from his mouth and assigned him to the Lancaster farm club.

Had Much to Learn

Nellie still had a lot to learn, even about giving it that all-out effort. When he reported late for a game, Lancaster manager Lena Blackburne benched him for two days. Ever since then, Fox has been the first man on deck and the last to leave. And he goes with the throttle wide open all the time.

The White Sox were a bit apologetic about his acquisition for the 1950 season, but they soon got over that. And they soon learned about his spirit. In one spring exhibition game he had a tooth knocked out. Nellie wouldn't have it fixed until season's end "because I might interfere with my playing."

His average over the years is .294 but it could be higher. In 1951 he batted .317. And while he may not add long to that rarified atmosphere he'd like to try one. As Jimmy Dykes once said, "I'd like to have him on my ball club."

If the White Sox end the season in the hot fight for pennant.

Signs with Browns

CLEVELAND (UP)—Ron Stoc[illegible] of Houston, has put up his final year of college eligibility to sign a professional contract with the Cleveland Browns. The 6-foot, 230-pound tackle was [illegible] by Paul Brown.

MPSA Is Softball Leader

The City Softball League has a new pace-setter today.

MPSA roared to the top of the standings last night at City Park, nipping Italian Hall, 9-8, in an exciting contest.

Italian Hall manager Steve Hardoby decided to prolong the excitement by filing a formal protest over a play in the seventh inning. The league will meet later to consider the complaint.

Italian Hall scored five runs in the first inning but MPSA came back with six in its half of the frame. After that, the game settled down a bit.

Russell Bronson turned out to be the MPSA star. He collected three hits in all. His last bingle came in the bottom of the seventh with the bases loaded to produce the winning run.

Spencer Wins

Harrison Spencer picked up the pitching win, even though he tossed just one inning.

Gene Quinn and Adam Masci each had a pair of safeties for the losers.

Tonight's City League attraction will send the Cro-Ams against the Ravens.

Milwaukee Asks For Waivers on Chuck Tanner

MILWAUKEE (UP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced today they have asked waivers for the third and last time on reserve outfielder Chuck Tanner to make room for one of their bonus babies.

The Braves said if waivers are not granted to permit shipment of Tanner to one of their minor league teams, he'll be sold for the waiver price to a major league team.

Tanner, of New Castle, Pa., is being released to make room for bonus baby" Bobby Taylor, the 18-year-old catcher they signed last Saturday for an estimated $100,000. Taylor joins the Braves tonight in New York.

Tanner, 27, played Jeffield about three weeks during May when Bobby Thomson was benched for weak hitting. He won a 13-inning game against Philadelphia May 22 with a home run.

The outfielder has been in the Braves' system since 1946 when he started with Owensboro in the Kitty League. He reached the Braves in 1955 and hit a home run in his first time at bat to win the Braves' opener that season.

Bahama Favored In Bout Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, (UP) — Fast-punching Yama Bahama of the Bahamas is a 6-5 choice to whip Gil Turner of Philadelphia tonight in their nationally televised 10-round middleweight bout in the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Bahama is expected to weigh 152 pounds to Turner's 154 when they climb through the ropes for the 10 p.m. edt opening bell.

Bahama lost to Isaac Logart but outpointed Willie Johnson in his two fights this year while Turner, who also bowed to Logart, has knockouts over Jimmy Morris and Rudy Gwin to his credit.

Rides Winners

BOSTON (UP) — Dave Deroin stole the show during Tuesday's annual open house day at the Suffolk Downs race track. A total of 30,828 fans were admitted free and watched Deroin ride four winners on the nine-race program.

HONOR TOWNSEND — S. S. Townsend, retiring principal-coach at West Newton High School, who started his teaching career in Monessen back in 1915, was honored during a banquet last night. Above, toastmaster Sherman Brizzi is pictured presenting Townsend a $500 savings bond as a gift from the community. Looking on are members of the banquet committee Eugene Letterio, Dr. Rufus Goehring, Domenick Letterio, Brizzi, Henry Rohland, Townsend, Sam Libbos, Tony Libbos and Warren Cumpson.

Former MHS Stars on Hand to Pay Tribute to Retiring Townsend

Monessen High's first WPIAL championship basketball team turned out to pay tribute to their retiring coach, Stewart Townsend, at the Lutheran Parish House in West Newton last night.

Townsend is retiring as principal-coach at West Newton High after more than four decades in the teaching profession.

The popular educator started his career in Monessen back in 1915. And many of his old students were on hand.

The entire 1918-19 team — WPIAL champions — gathered together for the first time since their graduation to greet Townsend.

That team included Dr. James Hutchinson, a city dentist; Bill (Cranky) Allison, a Pittsburgh Steel official; Jack Reed, a supervisor in the Clairton coke plant; Kemp Conn, a Pt. Marion businessman and Cecil Conn, a Pt. Marion mortician.

Every member of that team went on to play college ball after leaving Monessen.

Townsend Stars

There were other Townsend stars on hand, too. They included Dr. Lewis Farquhar, Dr. Harold Meybin, Dr. Joseph Dudas, Tony Parnella, Lou Miller and Melvin Cook.

Other city sports fans were there also. That list included Tom Preston, retired vocational school director who introduced the Monessen crowd. Lorrin Culler and Charles Williams, both of whom have been loyal Greyhound fans for a half century; Lou Kichinko, Bill Marino, Bud Roman, George Kuvinka, and Boots Salotti.

The ladies were represented, too by Helen Williams, a teacher at MHS who was a cheerleader during Townsend's coaching tenure.

The citizens of West Newton surprised the retiring coach with a $500 savings bond. He was also showered with other gifts by individuals.

Pay Tribute

Members of practically every West Newton class instructed by Townsend were represented and each group selected a spokesman to pay tribute to the veteran educator. Among these speakers were George Everett, current basketball coach at Rostraver, and Ed Hogan, junior high football coach at Rostraver.

Sherman Brizzi, assistant basketball coach at West Newton, served as toastmaster for the informal affair and kept things moving at a fast pace.

In his talk, Townsend was brief and to the point.

"I want to thank everyone for the many kindnesses they have shown me," said Townsend. "I shall always treasure my experience in both West Newton and Monessen."

The banquet committee consisted of Dr. Rufus Goehring, Eugene Letterio, Domenick Letterio, Henry Rohland, Sam Libbos, Tony Libbos, Warren Cumpson and Frank Celapino.

Bucs Nip Cards, 5 to 4, to Quit League Cellar

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, after a 16-day confinement in the National League cellar, edged into seventh place today.

The Bucs advanced over the stooped backs of the Chicago Cubs Monday night as they stretched their victory streak to four with a 5-4 win over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The one-run victory margin, the deciding factor in nine of the last 10 Pirate games, came in the eighth inning when Dee Fondy singled home pinchhitter Paul Smith.

The tally was the second in the inning. The Bucs, behind 4-3 when they came to bat, scored the tieing run on singles by Hank Foiles Smith and Bill Virdon.

Three Hits Each

Fondy and Frank Thomas had three hits apiece to pace the 16-hit Pirate assault. Pittsburgh tallied in the first on singles by Fondy, Roberto Clemente and Thomas and then added two more runs in the third on a single by Clemente that sent in Freese and Virdon.

Big blows accounted for the Card scoring. Stan Musial belted his 362nd major league homer with a mate aboard in the second and Del Ennis brought home two runs in the top of the eighth on a bases-loaded double.

Hoyt Wilhelm, who pitched but a single inning, took his second loss without a victory. Luis Arroyo, the third and final Pirate hurler, was credited with his second victory against five losses.

The Pirates were scheduled to send Ron Kline (1-7) against Lindy McDaniel (4-2) of the Cards tonight.

Monessen Netters In Tourney Today

Monessen High's fine doubles tennis team of Joe Kurey and Jim Baker will make their debut in the annual Metropolitan tournament at Mt. Lebanon today.

They will play Mark Witkin and Tom Senior, of Latrobe, at 4 p. m.

Mary Katsuleris, of Monessen, will team with Karlene Linton in the girls doubles. They will also play at 4 p. m., meeting Sue Palmer and Brooke Howard.

In singles action yesterday, Baker lost his match to Ed Hartman, 6-0, 9-11 and 6-3.

Kuncas Sweep In Bowling Play

Kuncas blanked the J. Dackos while Carcellas won a pair from the A. Dackos in Tuesday Niters Bowling League action last night.

Scoring leaders were Julia Cardella, 125-300; Betty Kunca, 123-301; Sophie Latkanich, 104-265; and Do DeFelicis, 91-250.

Standings show Betty Kunca, 5-1; Ann Dacko, 3-3; Julia Carcella, 3-3; and Julia Dacko, 1-5.

Ozarks Invade Fayette City for MVL Assignment

Monessen's rejuvenated Ozarks will invade Fayette City tonight for a Mon Valley League test against the pace-setters.

The Ozarks who lost six of seven games recently have apparently regained their winning touch. They bombarded New Eagle, 12-3, on Monday.

However the Monessen boys will have to be good at Fayette City to keep the game interesting. FC is tied with Charleroi for the league lead, boasting a 9-3 record.

Other games tonight will send Van Voorhis to Perryopolis, New Eagle to West Newton and Donora to Charleroi.

All of those tussles are important since the current MFL campaign has developed into the closest in years. Only West Newton appears to be out of contention.

League standings follow:

Perryopolis Nips Van Voorhis, 3-2

Perryopolis nipped Van Voorhis, 3-2, in the only Mon Valley League baseball game played last night.

The Perry boys made only three hits and all of them were turned in by Tommy Haradich, who doubled and singled twice.

However that solo effort was good enough to give his team the verdict.

Midget League Meeting Tonight

An important meeting of the Midget Football League will be held tonight at Memorial Civic Center beginning at 8 p. m.

In particular, all parents of the MFL players are urged to attend.

Harry McCraw, chairman of the concession committee, will be in charge of the meeting. He plans to organize his group for the coming season.

All MFL directors should also be present.

"We're hoping for a big turnout to set up our program for the coming season," said McCraw. Naturally everyone is invited to attend.

Mayor Wagner Admits Baseball Showdown 'Flop'

NEW YORK (UP)—Although he has promised to "expedite" all plans aimed at keeping the Dodgers and Giants in New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner today virtually conceded his showdown meeting with officials of both teams was a flop.

"There was nothing to encourage us," Wagner said after holding a 75-minute conclave Tuesday with Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, and Giant prexy Horace Stoneham.

The object of the meeting was to determine if New York's two National League teams had definitely committed themselves to a westward movement that by next year could find the Dodgers playing in Los Angeles and the Giants performing in San Francisco.

It turned out to be a no-hit, no-run, no-commitment standoff.

Wagner said that O'Malley and Stoneham told him during their closed-door conference that they had "no commitments to move."

"They also said they have no commitments to stay here," the Mayor added.

Despite the fact the National League already has approved a transfer of the Dodgers and Giants to California, if they move together, Wagner had scheduled additional conferences with O'Malley and Stoneham this summer in the hope of talking them out of such a switch.

However, Tuesday's meeting did little or nothing to strengthen that flickering hope, and one unidentified city administration man admitted, "It looks like California here I come for the Dodgers and the Giants."

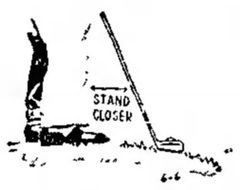
DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF



'Altered Swing'

On both uphill and downhill lie shots, it will be necessary to alter your normal club-choosing pattern.

On a shot from a downhill lie, you get more distance with a particular club than you would from a level he But, generally speaking, don't take a more lofted club for the shot. Instead, take the same club that the distance calls for under normal conditions. Choke down on the club a little and swing well within your maximum power to compensate for the added distance that the downhill lie gives. This will give you better control and will keep you from overswinging.

It is hard to get loft on a shot from a downhill lie. So I say NEVER use a two-wood for a shot from this type of lie. The same goes for a one-iron, if you happen to carry one. Even with the two-iron it will be tough to get the ball up.

On a shot from an uphill lie, you definitely must take more club than the distance would call for under normal lie conditions. Frequently, two clubs stronger is best — a theory instead of a freezer for instance. From a pronounced uphill lie, the off and distance you will get with a three-iron will be about equal to the and distance you will get with a five-iron from a level lie

Penn State Nine Meets Florida State in Tourney

OMAHA, Neb (UP)—The eight-team field which will scrap for the national collegiate baseball championship in the double elimination tournament opening here Saturday was completed today with the addition of Texas and California.

The Longhorns, the only team to win the College world series twice, earned a chance Tuesday to try for their third title by smacking Arizona, 7-1, at Austin. Texas, California's Golden Bears clinched by rebounding from a first-game defeat in a double-header with Pepperdine by dumping the Waves, 10-3, in the showdown of the best of three series at Berkeley, Calif., Tuesday.

Texas will play Connecticut and Penn State will meet Florida State in the afternoon games of the opening round program Saturday. California will face Colorado State College and Iowa State will play Notre Dame.

Dee Fondy Latest Brown Trading Gem

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The phenomenal performance of Dee Fondy the National League batting leader indicated today that Pittsburgh Pirate General Manager Rickey's star pupil.

Brown succeeded Rickey, baseball's acknowledged master trader, after the 1955 season. His association with the mahatma has been profitable.

Fondy, who hits either right handed or southpaw pitching at a current 367 clip, is a lean left-handed hitter who came to the Pirates along with Gene Baker from the Chicago Cubs last month. The Pirates gave up Dale Long and Lee Walls.

Virdon Trading Coup

The acquisition of Fondy may equal Brown's 1956 trading coup when he persuaded the St. Louis Cardinals to give up Bill Virdon for left hand pitcher Dick Littlefield and outfielder Bobby Del Greco.

Virdon finished last season with a .319 average, second to Hank Aaron who won the batting crown. A slow starter, Virdon picked up 25 points in two days last week and appears to be breaking out of his recent slump.

Since taking over the general manager portfolio, Brown has exchanged eight players for seven. Only three of the ex-Pirates are in the majors today.

But all seven acquired by the Pirates remain on the club roster.

Littlefield and Del Greco went to the Cubs after a hitch with the Cardinals. Littlefield is used in relief while Del Greco was sent to Montreal in the International League.

Luis Arroyo came to the Pirates in exchange for Max Surkont in a pitcher deal. Surkont was sold to Minneapolis of the American Association while Arroyo is a Pirate starter.

The Milwaukee Braves took Dick Cole for Jim Pendleton. But Cole was optioned to Wichita in the American Association last week. Pendleton is a utility infielder with the Pirates.

Hank Foiles came from the Cleveland Indians to become the Pirates' first string catcher. The Indians got Preston Ward in exchange but sent him to San Diego in the Pacific Coast League.

Another Cardinal Pirate deal involved an exchange of catchers. The St Louis club gave up Dick Rand for Toby Atwell but the latter now plays with Vancouver in the Pacific Coast league. Rand is the Pirates' No. 2 backstop.

Long and Walls have been benched on occasions by the Cubs while Baker has been seeing regular action. Fondy, who paced the Pirates to their first 1957 double-header sweep Sunday, is following a pattern set by Long just a year ago.

Long set the league on fire last year when he set a major league consecutive home run record. His eight homers in eight straight games touched off an avalanche of votes which placed him on the All-Star team.

Athletics Give Up Bonus Baby

KANSAS City Mo, (UP)—Cletis Boyer, only bonus baby signed by the Athletics in Kansas City, was sent to the New York Yankees Tuesday night to complete the 13-player deal the clubs made Feb. 19.

The Yankees assigned the 20-year-old second baseman to their Binghamton, N. Y., farm club in the Class A Eastern League.

VFW Rolls on in Little League Play

VFW stayed atop the American Division standings of the Little League last night, but the Elks slipped into a tie for first place in the National Division.

VFW hammered Park Service, 10-3, and Ravens nipped Page Local, 4-3 in American play.

The National results found CIO surprising the Elks, 6-2, and Legion topping the Lions, 8-4.

The hard hitting VFW boys came through with a couple of big innings again last night to handle Park Service. Jim Beeler had three singles in four trips for the Vets.

However Dick Steele, who received credit for the pitching win, supplied the big blow a three-run homer in the fifth inning to put Ravens ahead.

For Park Service, Jim Coccara had a double and single.

Ravens Win

Ravens took an extra inning to top Page Local, 4-3. Paul Barton decided the contest by tripling, then stealing home for the deciding run.

Eric Crabtree had a homer and triple for the losers.

Buster Karenchak sparked CIO to its surprise win. To begin with, he pitched two-hit ball, fanning eleven.

At bat Buster smacked a homer and double. Terry DelRosso chipped in with a pair of singles. The only Elk hits were collected by Ed Kilpela and Larry Davis.

Legion scored six runs in the fifth inning to handle the Lions. The winners staged their rally on three hits, three errors and two walks.

Elmer Gagatko fanned seven as he authored a seven hitter for the victors.

Two Coaches at Bellmar Hand In Resignations

Two Bellmar High School coaches have resigned.

The Board of Education Monday night accepted the resignations of assistant ofotball coach Frank Mizakar and baseball coach Bap Manzini.

Mizakar said he was giving up his football duties to devote more time to his graduate work in education. He will remain on the school faculty.

Manzini voluntarily relinquished his baseball job because of a conflict with other school activities. He is also the football coach, assistant athletic director and head of the school transportation system.

School officials said that both men resigned under absolutely no pressure.

The Board took no action on naming a basketball coach. That position was vacated by a board ruling some months back, which in effect took the job away from veteran Jack Flora.

A school spokesman revealed that 12 persons have applied for the basketball job.

All coaching vacancies will be discussed at a meeting of the personnel-finance committee and athletic committee later this month.

Freeport Rallies To Beat Mounties

MUNHALL, Pa (UP) — Freeport High overcame a three-run deficit in the bottom half of the 13th inning Tuesday to post a 5-4 victory over Mt Lebanon for the WPIAL baseball championship.

Mt Lebanon combined two singles and a double with two Freeport errors to move ahead 4-1 in the top of the frame. But the victors answered with five singles, a walk and took advantage of a hit batter to post the winning margin with two out.

Jack Karcher, who struck out 13 and walked 13 in taking the loss, tied up the ball game in the third inning with an inside the park home run at West Field.

Don Altman, the victor, scored the opening Freeport tally in the second after two walks, two stolen bases and an error.

Committee Calls Baseball Officials

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and major league Presidents Warren Giles and Will Harridge have been asked to appear before the House Judiciary Committee on June 17.

Emanuel Celler (D-NY), chairman of the committee, said the baseball officials will be asked about the possible shift of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants to California as well as the game in general and money transactions.

Celler's committee is investigating the game with an eye on possible anti-trust legislation.

Haddix, Pierce Keep Phillies And Chisox on Winning Trail

By UNITED PRESS

Harvey Haddix and Billy Pierce are two of the smallest pitchers in the majors but they may be worth their weight in World Series gold to the Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago White Sox.

Haddix, a slight 170 - pounder dubbed "The Kitten," tied up the muscular Cincinnati Redlegs in knots to give the Phillies a 3-1 victory Tuesday night while Pierce, who scales about 165 pounds, fired a two-hitter that enabled the White Sox to shade the Boston Red Sox, 1-0, in 10 innings.

Haddix' victory moved the dark-horse Phillies to within a game and a half of the first-place Redlegs in the National League race and Pierce's triumph maintained the White Sox' five - game bulge over the New York Yankees in the American League chase.

Haddix shut out the Redlegs, with one hit for seven innings and yielded their only run in the eighth on Ed Bailey's triple and Don Hoak's sacrifice fly. Ed Bouchee singled home Philadelphia's first run in the first inning and the Phillies added two in the second on an error, Chico Fernandez' triple and Haddix' sacrifice fly. The loss was the first of the year in the East for the Redlegs, who swept all 12 games they played on their first invasion.

Pierce Wins No. 9

Pierce struck out seven and didn't walk a batter in posting his sixth straight victory and ninth of the year. Nellie Fox singled with the bases filled and one out in the 10th to break up the game and hand relief pitcher Ike Delock his fifth defeat. Pierce now leads the majors with nine wins, 64 strikeouts and has allowed only one earned run in 38 innings.

The Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Chicago Cubs, 7-5, and took over third place when the New York Giants snaided the Milwaukee Braves, 8-7, in 13 innings. The Pittsburgh Pirates edged the St Louis Cardinals, 5-4, in the other National League game.

The Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians, the Washington Senators beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, and the Baltimore Orioles scored a 9-7 win over the Kansas City A's in other American League activity.

Sandy Koufax struck out 12 batters in 7 2-3 innings but needed relief aid from Clem Labine to nail down the Dodger victory. A two-run double by Roy Campanella and Duke Snider's 10th homer helped the Dodgers pile up an early 6-0 lead against Dick Drott before Koufax weakened.

Dusty Rhodes singled home Valmy Thomas in the 13th inning with the run that snapped a three-game Giant losing streak in a battle of homers with the Braves. Willie Mays and Red Schoendienst homered for New York while Frank Torre, Hank Aaron, Carl Sawatski and Del Crandall hit homers for the Braves, who dropped into fourth place.

Bucs Win Fourth Straight

Dee Fondy's third hit of the night raised his league - leading average to .375 and gave the Pirates their fourth straight win. Stan Musial walloped the 362nd homer of his career for St Louis and now ranks seventh in the all-time homer derby.

Bob Grim's 3 2-3 innings of shutout relief pitching preserved Tom Sturdivant's fourth win after the Yankees routed Bud Daley and piled up an early 6-1 lead. Mickey Mantle had three hits to lead New York's 12-hit attack.

Clint Courtney's seventh-inning homer provided the Senators with their winning run and deal Duke Maas his third defeat. Jim Lemon and Rocky Bridges also homered for Washington while Ron Moore blasted a homer for the Tigers.

George Kell's third hit of the game and the 2,000th of his career carried a three - run Baltimore splurge against Kansas City. Sammy White's triple broke the deadlock run and Kell followed with a two-run single that clinched matters. The veteran third-baseman is the seventh active player to reach the 2,000-hit mark.

According to a recent poll among American poetry lovers, the best liked poem is Longfellow's, "A Psalm of Life."

Two More Brooks On Injured List

BROOKLYN (UP) — Two more names were added to the Brooklyn Dodgers' "walking wounded" list today.

Sal Maglie was unable to pitch against the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night because of a bruised right thumb. Veteran catcher Roy Campanella started the game but had to leave in the third inning when he was hit in the left side by a pitch thrown by the Cubs' Dick Drott.

Shortstop PeeWee Reese still is nursing a torn muscle in his right side and is not expected to return to the lineup until the weekend series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"We Were Amazed" Says CAR LIFE, The Family Auto Magazine

We were amazed as we drove the Special four-door hardtop, to find that an automobile could be completely changed yet retain so much of its former appearance and character. The 1957 models have all the familiar, solid Buick virtues.

THE ABOVE brief clipping tells you worlds about the '57 Buick.

It tells you we went all out to make this car completely new—yet we didn't sacrifice a single Buick virtue.

So you still get that unmistakable Buick styling.

You still get that big-car room and comfort and that solid Buick quality.

But you also get so complete a change in the vitals of this car that the driving of it is a wondrous new experience.

You get a brilliant brand of performance that's different from anything else that goes on four wheels.

Words won't describe it. Telling you there's an all-new engine, an instant new Dynaflow,* a completely new power train—none of that will convey this news to you.

What you have to do is get in this car and drive it. Drive it around the block, through town, out on the highway. Actually feel what happens when you press the gas pedal, turn the steering wheel, touch those powerful new brakes.

Then—and not till then—will you know why folks call this "the dream car to drive."

The best advice we can give you, by far, is this: Ask your dealer for a trial run today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety Buzzer is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Nuclear Device Is Fired Today At Yucca Flat

LAS VEGAS, Nev (UP)— An Atomic Energy Commission device was fired at 4 46 a m pdt, today from a platform suspended from a captive balloon ground-chored 500 feet above Yucca Flat in the Nevada desert

The shot was a device of the Livermore (Calif) Scientific Laboratory with 45 experiments taken in connection with its firing, including the use of a number of rabbits to determine sensitivity of eyes to the blast.

It was the first time the AEC ever had detonated one of its family of nuclear weapons from a balloon. Veteran atomic observers described it as one of the smallest ever exploded with a probable yield of only one kiloton or less

Dr. Gerald Johnson, test director, said the detonation was "quite successful from the technical viewpoint"

After the brief flash and a muffled report a small cloud rose above the skyline to some 6 000 feet and drifted slowly north and east of the site. The AEC said it anticipated no reports o ffallout The fireball was visible for less than one minute in the half overcast skies just before dawn broke at the AEC's testing grounds some 75 miles north of here.

Government to Study Cancer Society's Report On Cigarette Smoking

WASHINGTON (UP) — A government health spokesman said today the American Cancer Society's report linking cigarette smoking to death from many causes will be studied "closely" by government experts

He told the United Press it is "very likely" the national institutes of health, an arm of the U. S Public Health Service, will "make some evaluation" of the report although this may take "some time"

The spokesman for the institutes said the question of possible links between smoking and cancer and other ailments is already under intensive government study.

One of the questions government health experts presumably are weighing is whether some form of public health program should be set up to deal with the proolem of tobacco-health links

The spokesman said the American Cancer Society's final report on its four-year study of 188 000 men, made public Tuesday follows "basically the same lnes" as another report disclosed several weeks ago.

The previous report, made jointly by experts of the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Assoc., the National Cancer Institute and the National Heart Institute—the latter two government agencies—showed correlation only between cigarettes and lung cancer

The Cancer Society's survey Tuesday reported not only a "spectacular relationship between the (smoking) habit and lung cancer" but also a "clear-cut association" between cigarette smoking and other ailments, principally the nation's No 1 killer—coronary artery disease.

The report states.

Death rates from all causes were higher among the smokers than among the non-smokers. The rates rose consistently in proportion to the amount of smoking

Among men who smoked one-half pack—10 cigarettes—a day or less, the death rate was 34 per cent higher than among non smokers. Among smokers of one-half to one pack a day, it was 70 per cent higher, among one to two-pack-a-day smokers it was 96 per cent higher, and it was 123 per cent higher for men who smoked two or more packs a day.

The report was presented by Drs. E Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association

Heart Diseases Higher

The statistical rundown showed that 10 times more smokers then non-smokers had died of lung cancer during the five-year period of the study.

The death rate from heart and circulatory diseases was 70 per cent higher among smokers than the rate statistically expectable among non smokers.

Deaths from lung diseases other than cancer were three times more numerous among cigaret smokers than among non-smokers. and deaths from pneumonia and influenza were almost four times higher.

The report also found that male smokers were seven times more susceptible to death from cancer of the esophagus, larynx, mouth, tongue and the back of the throat than non-smokers. As for stomach ulcers, 51 men of the 188.000 studied died from this cause, and all were smokers, 46 of cigarettes. two of pipes, two of cigars and one of both pipes and cigars.

Pipe, Cigar Smokers

As for pipe and cigar smokers The overall death rate was 12 per cent higher for pipe smokers than among non-smokers and 22 per cent higher for cigar smokers than non-smokers.

In lung cancer, pipe smokers were found to be only a little more susceptible than non-smokers.

Men who had smoked little and had given it up for more than two years had a mortality rate only slightly higher than non-smokers.

Only in the following categories were the death rates for smokers and non smokers approximately the same: Violence, suicide, chronic rheumatic fever, hypertensive heart disease, other hypertensive diseases, nephritis and nephrosis, diabetes, leukemia and cancers of the rectum, colon and brain.

Hammond is director of the American Cancer Society's statistical research, and Horn is his assistant director.

The study began in November, 1951, when 20 000 volunteer workers in nine states each undertook to keep tabs on 10 healthy men between 50 and 70 for the entire period of the study

The last check of these men began in November, 1955 Some of the men were followed for a little over four years but the average were followed for 44 months

Of the 188 000, 11,870 died during the study period

Moves out in a single sweep of motion

... Chevrolet with Turboglide!

Chevy's come up with the newest, sweetest, smoothest automatic drive—Turboglide. It's the first and only triple-turbine transmission!

Turboglide is something really new and different in automatic drives. In the first place, there's only one forward-speed position on the control panel. There's no "Low" needed.

Turboglide handles everything with the oil-smooth action of triple turbines. You travel from a standstill to top cruising speeds with never a lurch or lag to mar your motion.

When you see a steep downhill stretch ahead, you set the selector at "GR" (Grade Retarder) and Turboglide helps slow you down.

Try Chevy's new, nothing-like-it automatic drive It's optional at extra cost—and worth it.

Jack Richwine Elected to Lead Belle Vernon Legion

Jack Richwine was elected commander of Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 at a meeting held Monday evening in the Post Home. Richwine will succeed Andrew Luzanski and be installed along with the rest of his staff in October.

Elected to serve with Richwine were Eugene "Vic" Venneri, first vice commander; James Koslosky, second vice commander; John Sloane, sergeant at arms; Clair Brown, chaplain; William Venneri, service officer; Eugene Green, finance officer and Thomas Wood, judge advocate.

Elected as delegates to the state convention in Harrisburg were Sam Stoughill, Milan Franceschi, Albert Frank, William Venneri, P. R. Cornell and John Luzanski. Named as alternates were Jack Richwine, Andrew Luzanski, Milan Franceschi, Albert Provance, Chess Marasco and P. R. Cornell.

A short business session was held preceding the election and committee reports were given. Milan Franceschi reported on the progress of a new project. Reporting for the directors he informed the men that an ice maker has been purchased.

Richwine as membership chairman reported on a meeting designated as membership clean-up day on June 11 at Manor. He reported the post five members short of "going over the top".

Brown thanked the members for the attendance at the annual church memorial service on May 26 at Rehoboth Presbyterian Church.

A club directors meeting has been set for Wednesday evening at 7:30. All post members are invited to attend to discuss the needed improvement to the Honor Roll, which is on the lawn of the home.

Commander Luzanski reported on the decorating of veterans' graves and the construction of the miniature Flanders Field in front of the post home in which the men participated.

James Turner's application for membership was approved. Weekly award winners were Al Frank and Lou Kamidisky. June 17 is the date of the next session.

Plans Complete For Parade Here

All plans are completed for the parade to be held tomorrow night as the highlight of the Carnival Week now being held by the Ladies Auxiliary to Belle Vernon Fire Co No. 2

The groups taking part will line up on Henry St. and move promptly at 7:30 along Arch to Broad, down Broad and State to Main St. The procession will move along Main St. to Fourth St., where it will disband.

Judges will view the parade from Main St. and participating units will receive awards.

Miss Ruth Lutes is acting as parade marshall.

Personnel Replacements at Local Schools

Personnel replacements were the principal discussions at the Monday evening meeting of the Bellmarette Joint School Board held in the Bellmar High School Library with President Blandon Bulger in charge.

All members of the Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon and Fayette City boards were present and attending from the Washington Township Board were Bulger, John Kasuda and Stanley Koslasky. Supervising Principal Robert VanBremen, Elementary supervisor Joseph Brisbane and Solicitor John E. Costello were also in attendance.

J. E. Kuhn, personnel chairman, announced that resignations were received from Constance Croushore, an English teacher at Vernon Junior High School and Mrs. Phyllis Melvin, secretary to Mr. Brisbane. These were accepted.

Francis Mizakar, a member of the Bellmar High School faculty, submitted his resignation as assistant football coach and Bap Manzini relinquished his duties as baseball coach. He will remain as football coach and assistant atnletic director.

The application of Paul Burns for summer work was approved and applications were received from Mrs. Georgia Stanko and Mrs. Barbara Sendek for cafeteria work. These were filed.

Hire New Secretary

Mrs. Sara Pocky and Mrs. Alfretta Smith, who have been teaching on a substitute basis will be granted temporary professional contracts for the 1957-58 school term. Judy Lorinchas, a Bellmar graduate with this year's class, was employed as Brisbane's secretary.

Ernest Doff, instrumental music supervisor, appeared before the personnel committee to request additional aid in his department in order to take care of the number of interested students. The board was instructed to try to locate someone qualified to assist with the instrumental and vocal program.

Van Bremen announced that Mrs. Lois Schmid, who has been teaching girls physical education on an emergency certificate, has requested transfer to her certified field of English or Spanish. Since the latter will be added to the curriculum this year the request was granted.

It was also reported that the California State Teachers College student teaching program would be available to the Bellmarette Joint Schools.

Kuhn announced that the personnel committee would meet in late June to review the insurance program and that there will be a meeting of the personnel and athletic committees to discuss the coaching vacancies.

VanBremen announced that two additional full time teachers and one part time teacher are needed in the elementary department for the next term.

Social Security

Kuhn presented legislation concerning the integration of Social Security in the school program and VanBremen announced that the faculty vote regarding that subject was 43 for and 60 opposed. Solicitor Costello submitted a legal opinion that the School District has the authority to reimburse the Commonwealth for one half of the employer's contribution commencing with the date of the agreement. Each component board will act independently on this matter.

As chairman of the special building committee Kuhn announced that pre-final plans for the building addition plans at Bellmar High School were sent to Harrisburg on May 15, but have not been returned and are corrected. It is possible that bids may be advertised by July 15.

VanBremen reported that Vesely Brothers will replace a small passenger bus with a 60 passenger bus for next term. He also stated the transportation committee, Vesely Brothers and himself would meet in the Fayette County office to arrange the new contract.

The two year football contract with Elizabeth High School was discussed and it was decided to honor it as is.

There was no meeting of the building and grounds committee, but the painting program began on June 3. Manzini and J. H. Benstrom are doing the painting and George Karp and Rio Lazzari are working on the kindergarten room at Marion.

Carmine Natalini reporting for the supplies and equipment committee announced that coal bids were received from B and C and from William Leroy Lint. There will be an analysis of the coal offered by B and C before the contract is awarded.

The Board approved the pilot life insurance program for students again next year.

Change Meeting Date

It was voted to change the meeting night of the Joint Board from the first Monday to the second Tuesday of each month.

VanBremen presented the 1957-58 school calendar, which was approved. He requested that the secretary advertise for 15 new typewriters and also for bids for repairing the roof at Bellmar High School. He thanked the board and everyone concerned for helping him in a successful first year as school head.

A complete list of teaching and coaching applicants was presented.

Fayette City Director Roy Shook requested clarification of the board policy concerning accidental destruction of school property during supervised recreation period. The board voted that each case would be decided upon individually and the responsibility of payment for the damage would be determined by the board.

George Trozzo requested that a young machine be placed in Bellmar High School to familiarize the students with the proper use.

Financial Secretary Clifford Breakwell was instructed to transfer money to the funds where it is needed within the confines of the adopted budget and bills were ordered paid.

Beverly Brewer Honor Guest at Bridal Shower

Mrs. Fred Brewer, of 247 Main St, entertained at a per-nuptial shower honoring her daughter, Beverly, June 1, at the Vernon Rod and Gun Club.

Decorations were in a yellow and aqua color scheme, the colors to be worn by the bridal party at the wedding. There were 60 relatives and friends present from Fayette City, Belle Vernon, Charleroi, Bentleyville, Jefferson, Mather, Masontown and Uniontown.

Among the guests were Mrs. Catherine Haywood, of Masontown, grandmother of the bride and the two grandmothers of her fiance, Mrs. Harold Heffran, of Speers and Mrs. Mary Crilley, of Smithton.

Games were played and luncheon was served and at the close of the evening Miss Brewer opened her many gifts, which were placed on a decorated table beneath a yellow and aqua umbrella and wedding bells.

Miss Brewer will wed Richard Heffran, of Speers on June 28 at the First Baptist Church.

Four Girls at FHA Meeting From Marion

Four girls from Marion Junior High School Future Homemakers of America attended a get-together meeting in the homemaking rooms of Lagonier High School this afternoon.

They are Sondra Rhodes, Patty Johnson, Dolores Berna and Catherine Elder. They were accompanied by the adviser, Mrs. Bernice Shoos and Francine Gall, of Bellmar High School chapter.

The subject for discussion was the state convention to be held June 10, 11 and 12 at Pennsylvania State College.

The girls of this chapter recently toured points of interest in Pittsburgh. Their itinerary included the Highland Park Zoo, Phipps Conservatory, Buhl Planetarium, where they attended the sky show, "Weather Fair and Storm", the "G" Building, Mellon Square and the Greater Pittsburgh airport.

The trip was made by bus and the girls were accompanied by Mrs. Lulu Rhodes, chapter mother and Mrs. Bernice Shoos.

Card Club Meets Monday Evening

The Eight "C" Deals were entertained on Monday evening at Crawford's with Anna Mae Basile as the hostess. Cards were played and luncheon was served after play.

Winning the high score awards were Mrs. Sara Bednarczyk, Catherine Cacciamani and Sara Worly. The floating prize was won by the hostess.

This concluded the club activities for the season and regular meetings will be resumed in the fall. In July the group will go to dinner and the theater as a social activity.

Kathryn Ann Gimbara and Mary Tisot are vacationing with Mr. and Mrs. Carol Tisot. Miss Gimbara is Mrs. Tisot's sister and Miss Tisot is a sister to Mr. Tisot.

The executive board of the Vernon Parent Teacher Association will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Vernon Junior High School library.

Annie's Celebrity

NEW YORK (UP) — Annie, a misnamed male penguin, will "cut" the ribbon today at dedication ceremonies for the new aquarium at Coney Island. Annie, a former resident of the old aquarium at Battery Park, is expected to make the dedication official by biting through the ribbon instead of cutting it. The ribbon will be wrapped around a smelt.

Choose Jurors to Hear 'Pike Fraud Testimony

HARRISBURG (UP) — Five more jurors remain to be chosen today before the Commonwealth begins its prosecution of nine men charged with conspiracy to swindle the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission out of almost 20 million dollars.

Four retired workers and three housewives were accepted as jurors by the court and attorneys for both sides at the opening of the trial here in Dauphin County Court Tuesday.

The jury will decide the case against five former commission employes, including one - time Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, and suspended Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export, and others under indictment for conspiracy in connection with contracts between the commission and the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, for the filling of abandoned coal mines beneath the turnpike's Northeastern Extension.

An indictment against Charles W. Stickler, Jr., president of Manu-Mine, and Clayton A. Landsidle, vice president and general manager, charged fraud in contracts totaling $7,798,267 for the work which the state charges was unnecessary. The state said the firm made a 100 per cent profit on the work.

In addition to Evans and Torrance, former commission legal counsel Theodore S. Paul; former finance director Paul J. McNeill, and former assistant chief construction engineer John D. Paul, are charged with conspiracy for their part in the negotiation of the contracts.

E. J. Donnelly, and G. J. Hudert, engineers for the J.E. Greiner Co., Baltimore, former consulting firm to the commission, also are charged with conspiracy.

Deny Charges

The nine pleaded innocent Monday.

The battery of 15 defense attorneys resumed the jury selection today with six of their nine preemptory challenges remaining. District Attorney Huette F. Dowling and Vincent G. Panati, special deputy attorney general, used six of their challenges in interviewing 19 prospective jurors brought before the court. Three candidates were dismissed by presiding Judge Homer L. Kreider as ineligible to hear the case.

Harvey Pennell, 73, Williamstown, a retired coal miner and the first juror chosen was designated jury foreman.

The jury was kept locked up overnight by court order and will be kept secluded throughout the trial.

Judge Kreider directed the jurors be allowed newspapers and magazines, with all references to the trial clipped, and radio and television. A deputy sheriff, however, was under orders to prevent the jurors from hearing or seeing news broadcasts.

Watch the Birdie!

A MAN AND HIS JOB — Monessen Patrolman Paul Sowko has the unpleasant task of handing out tags to motorists who ignore parking regulations in the downtown section. He said most violators are those who go shopping and then forget the time limit on the parking meter. He admits he receives many nasty stares from tagged motorists.

Washington Is Listed on Records As Tax Dodger

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UP)—That fellow who chopped down a cherry tree and then had to go blabbing about it to everyone was still up to his old tricks at the age of 62.

The only difference was he had switched fields. Instead of tree chopping he was tax dodging.

A newly-found dusty Alexandria record book tells the awful truth George Washington didn't pay his local taxes in 1791.

The book listed him as being delinquent nine pounds.

That's the way the book put it Delinquent, (pounds) 9, G. Washington. It didn't even say G. Washington, President, currently doing business in the national capital at Philadelphia.

Apparently in Alexandria they weren't easily impressed in those days.

But Washington followed true to form. He couldn't tell a lie. The record book shows he paidup in full.

Assistant City Manager Eugene Barnwell said he discovered the old tax book Tuesday while shuffling through some long-forgotten documents.

Barnacle Bill Doing Okay on Oil Tankers

NEW YORK (UP) — When it comes to living comfortably, Riley has nothing on Barnacle Bill.

The life of seamen on board giant oil tankers is better than that enjoyed by many landlubbers.

The food and living quarters on these tankers rival those on many big passenger liners. Some tankers even boast swimming pools and television sets.

The huge supertankers, ranging in size up to 100,000 deadweight tons, are something like floating hotels, with tiled bathrooms, roomy bathtubs, and recreation rooms.

Typical of these vessels is the World Inspiration, which came into Philadelphia last week with a cargo of Middle Eastern crude oil. The 41,000-ton vessel is owned by the Stavros S. Niarchos group.

Plush Captain's Quarters

The captain's quarters on this ship are about as plush as you'll find in any hotel suite. They consist of two big bedrooms with private baths; a wood-paneled office with asphalt tile flooring, typewriter and filing cabinets; and a big living room with club chairs and sofa, wall-to-wall carpeting and an imitation fireplace.

Crewmen sleep either in private cabins or in double rooms, all with private baths or showers. They get a choice of foods at their meals.

"There's a very good reason for all this so-called luxury on board our tankers," according to a spokesman for Transoceanic Marine Inc., New York agents for the Niarchos fleet.

Air Conditioned Ships

"The crew on a ship such as the World Inspiration," he explained, "may go a whole year before getting any real leave. The ship is their home for months on end, and it must be made as comfortable and liveable as possible."

The spokesman pointed out that the newer ships are being air conditioned.

Ocean-going oil tankers set a torrid pace, never spending much time in any one port.

The World Inspiration, for instance, sailed from Japan to the Middle East and back again. It returned to the Middle East, passed through the Suez Canal and went to Philadelphia. After unloading there, the ship headed for Venezuela to pick up crude oil for the European continent.

The World Inspiration is, like many tankers, a floating testimonial to internationalism. Built in Japan, it flies the Liberian flag and is manned by a Greek crew.

Dairy Industry Creates Wealth, Director Says

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The dairy industry creates more than 389 million dollars in new wealth annually in Pennsylvania, the Kiwanis Club was told today.

Richard J. Werner, executive director of the Milk Industry Foundation, Washington, said that of the total wealth created, more than 303 million dollars goes to the farmer for milk sales, and the balance for the sale of cows for their meat. Werner added that the milk industry pays 47 million dollars in ad-valorem taxes annually to the state.

"The Pennsylvania Cow is doing fine," he said, "it is the chief reason for the steady growth of the industry in Pennsylvania."

He said Pennsylvania cows produce "714 pounds above the average per cow in the United States."

PLYMOUTH—"YOUR OVER-ALL BEST BUY"

The experts have seen 'em all, driven 'em all, tested 'em all, and they agree—the pick of the field is Plymouth. So don't spend a penny on any car until you've read the documented Plymouth facts right here, right now—and driven the years-ahead Plymouth.

VALUE WINNER

CAR LIFE the family auto magazine, sums up its Mid-Year Report with these words: "CAR LIFE chooses Plymouth as today's Over-all Best Buy because we feel that it offers more and better transportation value than any other 1957 car regardless of price."

ECONOMY WINNER

Plymouth swept its field in the Mobilgas Economy Run . . . won first place for economy in "Class A"—the division that included all the well-known low-priced cars! Plymouth is proved the big economy car of the low-price field!

HANDLING WINNER

The 1957 MOTORTREND Award for "significant engineering advancement" went to Chrysler Corporation, and Plymouth is their No. 1 car. It is for "Superior Handling and Roadability Qualities," made possible by Torsion-Aire suspension.

STYLING WINNER

Dell's 1957 CARS ANNUAL gives PLYMOUTH the "Style Leader of the Year Award," as . . . "Style Leader of the American Automotive Industry." Recognition from the experts of Plymouth's superb styling, which has helped make it the world's most wanted car.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Frank Zilka, who died five years ago today, June 5, 1952.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
And still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way;
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away.
Sadly missed by Parents, Brothers and Sister

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Joseph Costa, who died 26 years ago today, June 5, 1931.
They say time heals all sorrows,
and helps us to forget,
But time so far has only proved how much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it and courage to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Wife and Children

Blair County Representative, Dan Erb, Dies

ROARING SPRINGS, Pa. (UP) —State Rep. Daniel H. Erb, 63, dean of the Blair County Republican delegation, died Tuesday night of a heart ailment at Mason Hospital.

Erb, fifth ranking assemblyman in term of service with more than 14 years in the House, entered the hospital Sunday after suffering a heart attack. He had been in poor health the past three months.

The assemblyman was a member of the House Appropriations Committee and also served on the Counties and Highways Committees. With his death, the House lineup now stands at 15 Republicans, 84 Democrats and one vacancy.

Erb, a resident of Hollidaysburg, was elected to his first time in the House in 1942 as a representative of Blair County's 2nd District.

By profession, Erb was a locomotive fireman and engineman for the Pennsylvania Railroad He entered politics actively more than 15 years ago as a member of the Blair County Republican Committee.

He is survived by his widow, the former Beatrice L. Brumbaugh; a daughter, Suzanne, and three sons, John, Marion and William, all of Hollidaysburg. Also surviving are a brother, William, of Legmont, and a sister, Mrs Laura E. Sorrick of Hollidaysburg.

Billy Graham Says Christians, Churches United

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham brought the first three weeks of his New York Crusade to a triumphant close Tuesday night with the comment that "not in 40 years have the Christians and their churches been so gloriously united to save their fellow men."

"Never before in my ministry have I seen God move so wonderfully, so gloriously to save His children," the 38-year-old evangelist said.

More than 17,500 persons heard Graham's sermon on covetousness in Madison Square Garden. The sermon was to have marked the midpoint in the crusade, but Graham announced Monday the revival will run three weeks longer than planned, until July 21.

Attendance at the sermons in the first 21 days has run over the 374,500 mark, or an average of 17,800 nightly. Tuesday night's 536 "decisions for Christ" brought Graham's total of conversions to 12,148 or an average of 578 each night.

About one-third of the spectacles worn in the United States are bifocals or trifocals.

Korean Wife Sees Husband In Hospital

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UP)—Specialist 3rd Class Havis W. Cherry sat up in his hospital bed Tuesday and looked at his Korean war bride, who had just ended a 9,000-mile journey to his bedside, "as if she were someone he had seen before."

Mrs. Tae Moon Cherry, 24, arrived in Hot Springs Tuesday after the American Red Cross sponsored her trip from Taegu, Korea, last week. Cherry was severely injured in an automobile accident near his Monticello, Ark., home May 15.

Mrs. Cherry and their one-year-old son Marvin spent about 10 minutes with Cherry Tuesday.

Col. Paul Kiehl, chief of surgery at the Army-Navy Hospital in Hot Springs, said Cherry sat up and stared at his wife "as if she were someone he had seen before."

Some Questions and Answers on '$64,000'

(Last of a three-part series. Questions and Answers about "The $64,000 Question".)

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — "The $64,000 Question," safely embarked on its third year of airtime, now ranks among a hardly elite of TV shows.

Recent Nielsen statistics show that about 50 per cent of our TV shows melt off the air by the end of their first year; more than two-thirds fade away by the end of their second year.

And "The $64,000 Question" has reached fantastic popularity over its life-span.

But its popularity naturally has made it the target of questions. Here are some of those questions and the answers:

Q: What is the budget of 'The $64,000 Question"?

A: About $35,000 per week half of which is set aside for prizes.

Q: What happens if the show gives away so much money, it goes over the budget?

Dipped Into Twice

A: There is a separate budget set aside by the sponsor, known as "the contingency fund." It has been dipped into twice.

Q: Why was Marine Capt. Richard McCutchen the expert on cooking, only given questions on French cuisine, his specialty?

A: He wasn't, contrary to some published reports. McCutchen's $8,000 question was on Scottish cookery; his $16,000 question was on breads—among them, German, Scottish, American; his $32,000 question was on deserts—French, Italian, Dutch, Welsh, and German.

Q: Is it true that contestants sign a form before they appear which says the show is under no obligation to pay money even if the contestant wins?

A: Yes, it is true. But it's doubtful that it ever will be invoked. It is a protection against screwballs who might possibly land on the show.

Q: Why was Gino Prato, the shoemaker, only asked questions in Italian opera, his specialty?

A: From Steve Carlin, executive producer: "It was a perfectly valid field for Prato. It was his field and there was no secret about it. To our mind, Italian opera is the basis of all opera."

No Guarantees

Q: Has anybody ever been given a flat under-the-table guarantee for appearing on the show, win or lose?

A: No.

Q. Are future contestants sent home to bone up on their subject?

A: It's not uncommon for a prospect to wait several months before he gets a shot on the show. Says Carlin: "Nobody has to tell them to bone up. If we tell them they're going to be on, it's 10,000 to one, they're going to study".

Q: Is paradox the only qualification for landing a spot on the program?

A: It helps, but it's not essential.

Your Health—

Childish Habits Often Start Dental Trouble

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Watch your youngsters occasionally instead of the television screen.

Next time both you and your children are perched in front of the TV set, glance at them every once in a while. Notice their mouths in particular.

Many kids have the habit of unconsciously thrusting their tongue between their lips as they concentrate on a TV program, a comic book or even their studies.

Such a practice, if continued, could lead to certain dental difficulties. As in certain cases of thumb-sucking, consistently pushing the tongue against the front teeth might result in protruding teeth.

Drs. Earl W. Renfroe and Thomas K. Barber of the University of Illinois College of Dentistry have made a study of the matter.

While the effects naturally vary according to the age of the youngsters, the dental educators stress that the habit is most injurious to the newly erupting incisors, or teeth, of children between the ages of six and eight.

This is the period when a child's permanent teeth begin to appear. It's highly important that any indication of crooked teeth be detected at this time and that the conditions causing the dental trouble be corrected promptly.

Some youngsters—Drs. Barber and Renfroe say many of them—thrust the tongue into the space between the front teeth when they swallow. The doctors point out that a youngster may swallow as many as 150 times an hour. Frequently, he will do it with great vigor.

I think you can easily see that such a habit must be discouraged as quickly as possible to prevent protrusion of the teeth.

Drs. Barber and Renfroe recommend use of a palatal crib as a cure. This is a metal appliance which is fitted temporarily over the child's teeth.

Question and Answer

A. P. R.: Can fractures occur without injury?

Answer: At certain times fractures occur due to bone disease in which the bone is eaten away, so that in the normal process of walking and moving, the bone may break or fracture.

PUC Orders Bridge Change In Washington

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department today was ordered to prepare by Sept. 1 a plan to eliminate hazardous conditions on the Jefferson Ave. bridge over Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in Washington, Pa.

The Public Utility Commission ordered the plans to provide for a reconstructed bridge deck and sidewalk, reinforcement of steel supports and overall repair costs.

The commission said a hearing will be held after the plan was submitted to consider testimony on improvements, work division and allocation of costs. The agency said a key point to be resolved was the maintenance responsibility of the 73-foot long bridge.

The commission said the Highways Department, Washington County, the PRR and Pittsburgh Railways Co. all contended they should not bear any maintenance costs. Pittsburgh Railways, no longer operating in the area, removed its tracks from the bridge under a 1955 commission order and plans to remove those still in the approaches.

House Approves Pardons Bill

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House has approved and sent to the Senate Republican legislation to tighten the Commonwealth's laws covering pardons, paroles and commutations of sentences.

The bill, which received a 150-0 vote, would prohibit solicitation of information from jurors after a verdict was handed down for the purpose of receiving a statement to be used in parole or pardons proceedings.

Sponsors included two members of the legislative committee which is preparing a report of its investigation into the activities of the state Pardons Board—Reps. Edwin W. Tompkins (Cameron), chairman, and Clarence D. Bell (Delaware).

Defense Parley Is Scheduled

WASHINGTON (UP) — Some 175 civilian and military Defense Department officials will hold a three-day conference on defense matters at Quantico, Va., next week.

The conference will be the fifth in a series started by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson in July, 1953. The meeting is designed to provide for discussion and exchange of ideas among defense leaders.

Costly Maintenance

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Emil Flechner, 30, a tile setter, in a divorce action charged his wife with mismanagement of his affairs. Flechner said his wife, Loretta, bought a chair for 37 cents and then spent $200 to fix it up.

Klan Bounces Back In Parts of South

By JAMES RUSSELL

ATLANTA (UP)—The Ku Klux Klan, which has raised its hooded head periodically in the South since the days of Civil War reconstruction, has re-emerged in the desegregation era as a piecemeal body of feuding wizards and kleagles.

The power it once enjoyed has long vanished. The caliber of its leadership has greatly diminished. Only in isolated pockets does the 1957 version of the hooded order hold any real strength.

State and local laws enacted for the express purpose of deflating the Klan do so at every turn. Eight Southern states have laws that prohibit the wearing of masks on public property except during celebrations such as haloween.

Klan Bounced Back

Louisiana routed the Klan years ago with a law requiring public filing of membership lists but it bounced back in limited form last year. Georgia revoked the Klan charter 10 years ago for engaging in unlawful activities but a new Klan, professing to be law-abiding, is now chartered in the state.

Klansmen still wear white robes, hoods and sometimes masks, just as they did after the Civil War. But the sheeted night riders of 19th century have given way to ceremonious marchers who mass at pre-arranged meeting places on private property and often invite people to come see the show.

There is no cohesive Southwide or nationwide klan organization today. The group headed by Edwards, an Atlanta auto paint sprayer, claims nationwide representation and restricts its membership to "Protestant Christian Aryans."

day. Terrorism on a widespread basis dissolved with the conviction in 1952 and 1953 of more than 100 Klansmen on charges arising from floggings and kidnapings in the Carolina border country.

Leaders of the modern Klan direct their acid remarks as much at one another as they do at integrationists, Communists and religious minorities.

To join the Klan you must—in addition to taking a number of oaths — pay a membership fee of $5 to $10, depending on which group you pick. There are possibly a dozen "Klans" in the South.

Neither Recognizes Other

Bill Hendrix of Florida and E. L. Edward of Georgia are possibly the best known Klansmen. Neither recognizes the other as a genuine leader.

Hendrix, a carpenter and construction worker, resigned from the order after a 1951 federal conviction for sending defamatory material through the mail but the Supreme Court ban on segregated schools brought him back.
